

Reichelderfer Wins James Shea Memorial Award

JEFF REICHELDERFER

Jeff Reichelderfer of Logan Elm, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer, has been named the winner of the twelfth annual James T. Shea Memorial Award.

The annual rotating memorial award trophy was presented to Jeff at the Logan Elm High School Spring Sports Banquet Thursday by Knights of Columbus representatives, Mike Griffith, youth activities chairman, and Tony Kamler, grand knight. The trophy will remain at the school for one year. A smaller replica is given to the winner to keep.

Presented annually by the Father Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, the award recognizes the outstanding senior high school student in Pickaway County considering his background in regards to scholarship, athletics and religious practices. The late Mr. Shea had been a member of the Knights for 42 years prior to his death in 1963 and was a charter member of the local council.

Jeff's grade point average of 3.88 ranks him sixth in a graduating class of 142. He has been a member of the National Honor Society for the past two years and the 1976 President of the county organization. During the 1974-1975 school year, Jeff was a representative at Buckeye Boy's State. Recently, he was presented the Circleville BPO Elks "Most Valuable Student" Award.

While participating in the Logan Elm High School sports program, Jeff earned nine varsity letters over the four years. Between his ninth and tenth grades, he earned two baseball letters and one football letter. During his last two high school years, Jeff earned six varsity letters, two each in baseball, basketball and football. Jeff was selected to the All-Mid-State League teams in football and basketball. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the President of the school's Varsity Club.

Jeff was also named the Mid State League Senior Boy Scholar-Athlete of the year, an honor he was awarded as a junior. The recipient of this award is picked by Mid State coaches and represents excellence both on the field and in the classroom. This award carries a $100 scholarship.

He was the league player of the year in football last fall. Jeff is also the recipient of the Logan Elm Mike Spangler Memorial Award, presented to the outstanding scholar-athlete at the school in honor of an LEHS graduate who lost his life in Vietnam.

Reichelderfer has been accepted at Muskingum College where he will play football and baseball.

Jeff, with his parents, live in Tarlton, and are members of St. Jacob's Lutheran Church.

The entire selection committee consisted of the members of the Knights of Columbus; the principals, guidance counsellors and coaches from the four high schools; and many of the pastors from the area churches.

Charge Corruption In Teamsters Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — A small group of union dissidents is charging widespread corruption among Teamster union officials, saying they make six-figure salaries, use a fleet of private jets and dine on French cuisine prepared by chefs on the union payroll.

The Professional Drivers Council, known as PROD, charged that the Teamsters is run by "money-hungry and power-hungry" executives lavishly lining their pockets at the expense of the rank-and-file. The council pledged to mount a campaign to force government action if the union refuses to "clean its own house."

The 2,000-member group, representing a handful of the union's 2.3 million members, documented its charges in a 177-page book showing that Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons and numerous other union leaders collect six-figure salaries, have unlimited expense accounts, receive expensive gifts and arrange for their own lucrative pensions.

Arthur Fox, an attorney who serves as PROD's staff director, told a news conference Thursday his organization found wholesale violations of federal labor laws during a 10-month investigation of union financial records filed with the Labor Department.

Teamsters officials declined comment.

While many of the charges in its report were not new, the group presented for the first time in a single document a broad picture of Teamsters officials allegedly abusing their power.

The report noted that on the union headquarters' payrolls are a barber, a physical fitness expert, two French chefs and at least one chauffeur. It added that by way of contrast, the union's entire safety department consists of only two men who are paid about what the two cooks receive.

In addition to high salaries from multiple union jobs — at least 17 officials earn more than $100,000 a year — PROD said at least six officials have unlimited expense accounts covering everything from "a bag of groceries to greens fees at La Costa," the union-financed country club in California.

PROD said several union executives financed new homes with union funds or received "magnificent gifts ranging from new Cadillacs to condominiums."

In addition, the group said, the officials have access to the union's $13-million fleet of executive jet aircraft, second in size only to that of General Motors; they give high-paying jobs to their relatives and punish or harass union members who fight them.

Atom Treaty Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today signed a precedent-setting treaty that will open some Russian nuclear test sites to American inspectors for the first time.

The simultaneous ceremonies here and in Moscow followed 18 months of complex negotiations and may, according to U.S. officials, spur negotiations in Geneva to reach a long-delayed agreement limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

Terms of the five-year treaty permit American inspectors to visit sites when the Russians conduct certain underground blasts that have potential use for changing the levels of rivers or excavating for minerals.

Years ago, American scientists abandoned the idea of experimenting with underground nuclear explosions for those purposes.

But the Soviets remain interested in such projects, and the treaty limits the megaton level of any single blast for such a purpose to 150 kilotons — the equivalent of 150,000 tons of TNT.

Until now, the Soviet Union has refused to permit any foreign inspectors on Russian soil.

Although weapons sites remained off-limits, U.S. officials said the breakthrough could eventually remove a principal obstacle to a treaty prohibiting all nuclear testing.

Since smaller explosions could escape other means of detection, the U.S. has been reluctant to press ahead for a broader treaty until the Russians permitted on-site inspection.

Although the treaty signed by Ford and Brezhnev bans peaceful underground explosions with a force of more than 150 kilotons, it allows a series of blasts that could total up to 1,500 kilotons, provided the explosions are spaced no more than five seconds apart. American inspectors would be allowed to check any series exceeding 150 kilotons.

The agreement, and an earlier accord prohibiting underground weapons tests of more than 150 kilotons, will be submitted to the Senate for ratification

"in a very modest period of time," U.S. officials said.

Some arms control analysts have expressed doubt about the value of the two pacts, saying the ceiling is too high to be meaningful. Defenders within the administration stress the precedent of on-site inspection and the detailed arrangements worked out by the two countries to exchange geological and testing data.

American inspectors monitoring Soviet facilities will be permitted to take depth soundings and to examine the hole left by the explosion, but not the nuclear device itself. They will use a cable with an oscillator at the end which indicates the force of the blast.

The treaty limiting weapons tests was signed in Moscow in 1974 by then-President Richard M. Nixon and Brezhnev. Ratification has been held up for completion of the second agreement, which U.S. officials said will make it easier to distinguish between weapons and peaceful test.

Terms were completed in early April by negotiators in Moscow. The treaty was initiated May 12 but the signings were delayed.

Find JFK Group Studied Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, U.S. officials secretly studied the possibility that Fidel Castro might retaliate against American leaders for their attacks on Cuba, according to informed sources.

Existence of the study was kept secret from the Warren Commission, which investigated the possibility of a Cuban connection in the Kennedy slaying, and, until recently, from the Senate intelligence committee.

Committee investigators came across documents relating to the study in the course of their probe into the performance of the CIA and the FBI before and after the Kennedy assassination, the sources said Thursday.

The panel's findings are expected to be made public within two weeks.

In an article to be published today, the New Republic says the team which performed the study was created by then-Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. But the two sources told The Associated Press that although the attorney general was in over-all command of U.S. operations in Cuba, there is no evidence that he played a role in the workings of the group known as the "Cuban Coordinating Committee."

One source identified a member of the group as Desmond Fitzgerald, a CIA officer involved in a plot to kill Castro that was in progress on the same day President Kennedy was killed.

A second source said other members of the "Cuban Coordinating Committee" included John H. Crimmins, then a State Department Caribbean specialist who now is the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, and representatives of the FBI and Defense Department.

All members of the group were aware of the U.S.-supported commando raids against Cuba, but apparently only Fitzgerald knew about the assassination plot against Castro, sources said.

Existence of the group was first revealed last November in the intelligence committee's report on U.S. attempts to assassinate Castro.

The report described the group as an inter-agency panel established after the 1962 Cuban missile crisis "with responsibility for developing covert action proposals." The report didn't say anything about the group studying the possibility that Castro would strike back.

Two sources said it was not clear what had triggered the study of possible Cuban retaliation, but one source said the timing was consistent with the appearance in September 1963 of an AP dispatch which quoted Castro as saying, "U.S. leaders should think that if they are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe."

The AP article has been prominently mentioned in speculation surrounding Lee Harvey Oswald's motive in killing Kennedy. The article appeared in the New Orleans Times-Picayune at a time when Oswald, known to be an avid newspaper reader, was living there.

The Warren Commission concluded that there was no evidence that Oswald was part of a foreign conspiracy.

Evacuation Follows Train Derailment

RUSHVILLE, Ohio (AP) — "I thought it was a bomb," said Barbara Braglin. "I thought what am I going to do?"

Mrs. Braglin, her husband and their four children were among the 1,500 residents of three tiny Fairfield County communities evacuated Thursday night when 36 cars of a ConRail train derailed, spilling toxic chemicals into the Rush Creek. No injuries were reported from the fumes.

The families began returning to their homes "at their own risk" early today after the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency determined the toxicity level of the chemicals had dissipated.

Fairfield County Sheriff's Deputy Sgt. Jerry Lehman said the EPA advised residents who returned to their homes that they may suffer eye or respiratory irritation from the lingering ammonia oxides but gases were no longer toxic.

Several cars derailed into the creek, including the two tank cars carrying ammonia oxide and monoethylene. Sheriff's deputies said the gases spilled into the water and also formed a cloud which followed the creek south through the valley, routing families in Rushville, West Rushville and Bremen.

"We don't have a phone in our house," Mrs. Braglin said during an interview at Fairfield Union High School near Rushville where about 100 evacuees were temporarily housed. "My sister came over and told us we had to evacuate."

Volunteer firemen, deputies and state highway patrolmen from Licking and Fairfield counties went door-to-door in the neighborhoods bringing the residents to several schools in Fairfield and Perry counties.

Accommodations at the high school were hastily arranged to meet the emergency. School officials tried to provide areas for babies and younger children as well as adults.

Country music played over a radio in the cafeteria and youngsters cavorted in the halls while their parents waited for word that the danger had passed.

Some families brought their own food, but enough cookies, doughnuts and beverages to feed everyone appeared as word of the incident spread.

As soon as the EPA determined the danger had passed, cleanup crews began clearing the wreckage from the tracks.

Carter Lashes Out At Political Foes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jimmy Carter wiped a smile off his face Thursday to issue a blistering attack at those he said wanted to derail his front-running campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination and "continue politics as usual."

Carter, who could come close to clinching a first-ballot nomination with a big victory in Ohio June 8, headed today for a rally with a United Rubber Workers Union local in Akron, and stop-offs in Youngstown and Steubenville.

In a speech before the Ohio AFL-CIO convention in Cincinnati, the former Georgia governor charged that his critics intended to preserve "at all cost their entrenched, unresponsive, bankrupt and irresponsible political power."

"I haven't skipped a state, I haven't avoided an opponent, I haven't evaded an issue," Carter told nearly 1,500 AFL-CIO delegates. "But I'm facing opposition from those who want to continue politics as usual."

"We've seen this campaign come full circle from Jimmy Who, 16 months ago, to stop Carter," he added before carrying his campaign across the state for rallies and fund raisers at Elyria, Lorain, Cleveland and East Cleveland.

Carter saved his individual barbs for President Ford and Ronald Reagan who he branded "tweddle dee and tweddle dum. There's no difference between them." In Cleveland, Carter told newsmen he did not mean to single out Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, or California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. as elements in any stop Carter movement.

"I don't think any of them are trying to stop me," he said. "They're legitimately running for president." He did not mention Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., but it was unclear whether that was an oversight or intentional.

His press secretary, Jody Powell, issued a clarification of Carter's remarks in Lorain.

"He does not think it would be proper for him to call by name or single out other Democrats," the spokesman said. But Powell conceded the "implication was clear" that the convention remarks were aimed at "the Fords and the Reagans and the unnamed Democrats."

Carter closed out his speech to representatives of 10 million-member labor union on a high note and then avoided any sharp rhetoric about his opposition at succeeding stops.

"I'm running for president because I have a vision of a new America, a different America, a better America," he said. "I have a vision of an America that in Bob Dylan's phrase, is busy being born and not dying."

Carter paraphrased from the folk-stylist's song, "It's All Right Ma, I'm Only Bleeding."

Unidentified Caller Reports Mystery Fire

A caller who refused to identify himself early this morning reported a fire to the Circleville Fire Department. Firemen dispatched to the old Smith property at 905 S. Court St. at 1 a.m. found a fire in the downstairs of the building.

Since the old house is being torn down anyway, firemen did not make an estimate on the damages. The cause of the blaze remains a mystery.

Permit Fees Returned To Local Governments

Political subdivisions in Pickaway County received $24,623.44 from the Ohio Department of Liquor Control in 1975 in permit fees returned to the taxing districts.

Circleville received $12,641.79, Ashville, $2,142.33, Commerical Point, $100, New Holland $150, South Bloomfield, $2,331.23, Tarlton, $300, Williamsport, $300, Circleville Twp., $2,350, Darby Twp., $2,088.08, Harrison Twp., $100, Monroe Twp., $100, Perry Twp., $100, Pickaway Twp., $1,268.78, Saltcreek Twp., $100, Scioto Twp., $551.23.

2 Stolen Car Cases Solved

Cars stolen from Ashville and Circleville have been recovered, according to local law agencies.

But details of the apprehensions of suspects in the cases are sketchy at press time.

Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious was in Columbus Friday morning to arrest the person who took a 1966 Chevrolet owned by David Gillis Jr., 212 S. Pickaway St.

The car was stolen Thursday between 9:45 and 10:45 p.m. from its parking place at the intersection of W. Ohio St. and S. Scioto St.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are enroute to Portsmouth, where Scioto County Deputies are holding two adults who were arrested in a car owned by Warner Hedges, 300 Station St., Ashville.

The 1975 Dodge was taken between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. Tuesday.

SCENIC RAILWAY — The Hocking Valley Scenic Railway south of Nelsonville has begun its season of operation and will operate trains Saturdays, Sundays and major holidays through Oct. 1.

Hocking Valley Scenic Railway Begins Season

Springtime in the Hocking Hills, and the blooming of the dogwoods in Southern Ohio. That's what you'll experience when you ride the Hocking Valley Scenic Railway just south of Nelsonville, Ohio, on US Route 33.

The 1916 Baldwin locomotive and its three passenger cars, pull away from the Nelsonville station slowly as the big engine builds up steam. On this trip up the lush Monday Creek Valley, you'll experience the sights and sounds of early steam railroading as it was in the old days. In the background you'll hear the rhythmic chugging of the massive steam locomotive and the shrill cry of the train whistle warning man and beast out of the way. The pleasant voice of the announcer is heard, telling the history of the engine, cars, and the countryside that passes by. On the 15-mile round trip, you'll pass through such towns as Doanville, Snow Fork Junction, Monday, Bessemer, Longstreth, and Carbon Hill. Sights along the way include coal beds which indicate this area once had a rich and prosperous mining industry, an old swimming hole still used by the local kids, and a hillside cemetery with a cannon.

This stretch of track, called the Monday Creek branch was originally laid in 1871 by the Columbus and Hocking Valley Railroad, and served the long abandoned coal mines of the area. This original Hocking Valley Railroad hauled the coal to Columbus, and then north through Marion and Upper Sandusky to Toledo. Later purchased by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, the line operated until gradual loss of the freight business led

Church Plans Decision On Campaign

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, a late-comer in the field of Democratic presidential candidates, will make a decision during the next few days that will shape the outline of the remaining precious primary days, aides to the Idaho Democrat said Thursday.

Church, who startled political observers with his victory in Oregon, was the last of the three Democratic presidential hopefuls to address the Ohio AFL-CIO convention here.

He told the 1,500 delegates that because of the short duration of his campaign, he has had to assess his situation as he went along.

"We have won three victories and we hope to stretch that streak to five with Montana and Rhode Island," Church said. "Then we'll take an assessment and do what we can."

That assessment will be made in a meeting in Washington, D.C. today. Church must decide where to allot time and money between the California, Ohio and New Jersey primaries.

"If we conduct the kind of campaign that we want, I think we could do very well in Ohio," Church said. "If we had the resources."

"In order to do that we must have at least $1000,000 for media coverage alone."

"What we're dealing with is a shortage of time and a shortage of money."

Referring to a suggestion by Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz, that he stay out of the Ohio primary, Church said: "I am not part of any 'stop Carter' movement. I'm a member of the 'support Church' movement."

In 1840 an Englishman, James Bennett, began production of yellow earthenware at East Liverpool, Ohio, which soon became one of the chief ceramic centers in the country.

No-Name Brands Proving Popular

PARIS (AP) — Shoppers using the largest supermarket chain in France find the usual name brands on the shelves, but since April 1 they also have been finding goods in plain, white packages or cans bearing only the name of the product inside — "Coffee," "Spaghetti," "Beans."

According to an official of the chain, the shoppers also are finding that the goods in the white packages — called "free products" — are 7 to 30 per cent cheaper than the name brands on the same shelves.

The new idea of the Carrefour chain, which has 38 giant supermarkets throughout France, has come under sharp attack from competitors, manufacturers, advertisers and consumer organizations.

The plan is similar to what American supermarket chains do in marketing their own brands of foods at prices cheaper than big-name brands. But Carrefour cuts costs even more because packaging and advertising are less expensive.

The controversial idea came from Fournier's team of marketing experts headed by Etienne Thil, a former journalist. Only 50 of the 35,000 products sold by the Carrefour chain are distribution tycoon Marcel Fournier, is one of the pillars of the French capitalist system and the very antithesis of a Communist. His associates say Fournier shrugs off the attacks as a combination of spite and envy.

Competitors have accused Fournier of unfair trading practices. Advertising agencies have denounced the multimillion-dollar publicity campaign for the "free products" as false and misleading. Manufacturers' associations have tried — unsuccessfully — to organize a boycott to cut off Carrefour's sources of supply. Even the consumer organizations are up in arms, claiming that Carrefour has no proof of its assertion that the nameless products are cheaper and at least as good as nationally advertised brands.

The controversial idea came from Fournier's team of marketing experts headed by Etienne Thil, a former journalist. Only 50 of the 35,000 products sold by the Carrefour chain are affected by the scheme thus far, but Thil says it is so successful that it will undoubtedly be expanded.

A spot check in the chain's 215,000-square-foot supermarket south of Paris showed that nearly every shopper had at least one "free product" in his cart.

According to an official of the chain, the shoppers also are finding that the goods in the white packages — called "free products" — are 7 to 30 per cent cheaper than the name brands on the same shelves.

The new idea of the Carrefour chain, which has 38 giant supermarkets throughout France, has come under sharp attack from competitors, manufacturers, advertisers and consumer organizations.

The plan is similar to what American supermarket chains do in marketing their own brands of foods at prices cheaper than big-name brands. But Carrefour cuts costs even more because packaging and advertising are less expensive.

Carrefour, which had a turnover of $2.2 billion last year, launched the idea in a nationwide blaze of publicity and reported that it increased the number of customers by 9 per cent in its first four weeks.

A clamor of indignation has come from all sides. The scheme "undermines the very basis of the free enterprise system," thundered one leading food processor. "It has done more to pave the way to a socialistic society in France than all the leaders of the Communist party taken together."

The sponsor of the idea, 62-year-old distribution tycoon Marcel Fournier, is one of the pillars of the French capitalist system and the very antithesis of a Communist. His associates say Fournier shrugs off the attacks as a combination of spite and envy.

Competitors have accused Fournier of unfair trading practices. Advertising agencies have denounced the multimillion-dollar publicity campaign for the "free products" as false and misleading. Manufacturers' associations have tried — unsuccessfully — to organize a boycott to cut off Carrefour's sources of supply. Even the consumer organizations are up in arms, claiming that Carrefour has no proof of its assertion that the nameless products are cheaper and at least as good as nationally advertised brands.

The controversial idea came from Fournier's team of marketing experts headed by Etienne Thil, a former journalist. Only 50 of the 35,000 products sold by the Carrefour chain are affected by the scheme thus far, but Thil says it is so successful that it will undoubtedly be expanded.

A spot check in the chain's 215,000-square-foot supermarket south of Paris showed that nearly every shopper had at least one "free product" in his cart.

Speculating On Brezhnev

Trying to guess what is going on within the power confines of the Kremlin can be a fascinating, if frustrating, obsession. Among those so addicted, the latest springboard for speculation was the surprise announcement that Leonid Brezhnev was promoted to Marshal of the Soviet Union, the first party chief to be so honored since Josef Stalin.

What intrigues many Kremlin observers was the reason for the promotion, and some have concluded it is a push toward elder statesmanship, meaning retirement, for the 69-year-old Brezhnev. Alert to hidden meanings, diplomats holding this view point out that the only military representative at the ceremony awarding Brezhnev the Marshal's rank was Gen. Dimitry Ustinov, a civilian until he became defense minister in April.

Thus, the military apparently had little to do with the awarding of a rank which is entirely military. That would suggest the award was for political reasons, fitting in nicely with the theory about early retirement for the Soviet chief.

If a major shakeup in the Kremlin heirarchy is in the works, an opportune time for it would be the plenary session of the Communist Party Central Committee to be held in June or July. If no leadership changes are forthcoming at that meeting, Kremlin watchers will busy themselves pondering why.

Where There's A Will

By JIM BISHOP

It was a warm morning. Williston Fish, 39, sat in his office staring out at the young trees, the blushing buds, the plush grass in a Chicago park. No one asked to see lawyer Williston, so he spent his day drawing up a fictional will.

"I, Charles Lounsbury," he wrote in longhand, "being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do now make and publish this my last will and testament, in order, as justly I may, to distribute my interests in the world among succeeding men . . .

"And I, I give to good fathers and mothers, but in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and all quaint pet names, and I charge said parents to use them justly but generously as the needs of their children shall require.

"I leave to children exclusively, but only for the life of their childhood, all the dandelions of the fields and the daisies thereof, with the right to play among them freely, according to the custom of children, warning them at the same time against the thistles.

"And I devise to children the yellow shores of creeks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, with the dragonflies that skim the surface of said waters, and the odors of the willows that dip into said waters, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

"And I leave to children the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night and the moon and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subject, nevertheless, to the rights herein given to lovers.

"And I give to each child the right to choose a star that shall be his, and I direct that the child's father shall tell him the name of that star long after he has learned and forgotten astronomy.

"I devise to boys jointly all the useful fields and commons where ball may be played, and all snow-clad hills where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may skate, to have and to hold the same for the period of their boyhood.

"And all meadows with the clover blooms and butterflies thereof; and all woods with their appurtenances of squirrels and whirring birds and echoes and strange noises; and all distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found, I do give to save boys to be theirs.

"And I give to all boys and girls each his own place at the fireside at night, with all pictures that may be seen in the burning logs or coal, to enjoy without let or hindrance and without any incumbrance of cares.

"To lovers I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, such as the stars of the sky, the red, red roses by the wall, the snow of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music, or aught else they may desire to prove to each other the lastingness and beauty of their love.

"To young men jointly, being joined in a brave, mad crowd, I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sports of rivalry. I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength.

"Though they are rude and rough, I leave to them alone the power of making lasting friendships and of possessing loyal companions; and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and brave choruses to sing, with smooth voices to troll them forth.

"And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I leave Memory, and I leave to them the volumes of the poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets. This, to the end that they may live the old days over again freely and fully, without tithe or diminution.

"And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers, I leave, too, the knowledge of what a rare, rare world it is."

The will was done. Done and finished on a day in May, 1897. Mr. Fish thought of himself as a lawyer. He was a poet, a philosopher. In time, he became a railroad executive in Chicago.

It made him rich. He spent his spare time writing. In time, he published three books and 500 poems and stories.

Williston Fish died in Wester Springs, Illinois, age 81. I have not been able to find out if he left a will . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Many small-business men think their best customers are the ones who purchase the most when, in fact, such customers might be the worst.

This comment is contained in Commercial Credit Co.'s list of common mistakes by smallbusiness men, gathered by its representatives in the course of making $1.8 billion a year in sales — credit financing, that is — to businessmen.

What often makes such customers the worst, says CCC, is that they often take two months or more to pay their bills, thus costing the small-business man the use of his money during that time.

"Smaller companies frequently do not keep the right kind of records to track their accounts receivable," the commentary continues.

"In many instances the receivables are not even aged, and small-business men frequently don't even know how much they have in receivables on their books.

"Often the difference between success and failure is very slim, and the balance is tipped in a positive direction if the small-business man has had a course in practical accounting, or uses smart accounts receivable techniques."

Some small-business men will spot in such observations a subtle pitch for having their accounts receivable financed by CCC, but they and others will also observe that if CCC can make money on such business, they should too.

There is also a major need for bad debt insurance among small-business men, the CCC commentary continues.

"This type of service is utilized most often by larger companies, but it is the small-business man who can least afford to have one of his customers go bankrupt and thus be unable to collect his receivables."

Collection agencies are another type of service that smallbusiness men fail to consider using in managing their accounts receivable, says CCC, a subsidiary of Control Data Corp., the electronic computer manufacturer.

These agencies, it states, are completely different from the consumer-oriented collection agencies, and can be very effective in helping the businessman to maximize turnover on his current assets.

Moreover, the collection agency can be relatively inexpensive in that it does not have to be paid anything unless it actually collects from the customer.

One of the most serious errors of small-business men, says CCC, is that they fail to take proper advantage of their most important current asset, which is cash. Too often they put the money in their checking account and draw no interest.

"More small-business men should give serious consideration to flexible short-term investing instruments, such as directly issued commercial paper from top-rated companies," it suggests.

This paper can be purchased and redeemed easily, and provides interest during the short times it is held, enabling the small-business man to make money on his own money while he isn't using the capital.

Carter Schedules Ohio Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic presidential contender Jimmy Carter is scheduled to meet with Ohio's uncommitted Democratic slate tonight in a gathering a source described as "very significant."

Carter's Ohio campaign cochairman said the meeting will be a get acquainted session for both Carter and the uncommitted slate.

David Meeker of Akron, who also is former executive director of the Ohio Democratic party said Carter "will stress the importance of Ohio and ask for their help, at least as individuals."

Meeker also said it is obvious the Carter forces want the support of Ohio's party leadership.

The uncommitted slate belongs to Gertrude Donahey, state treasurer, who is on the ballot as a favorite daughter. Her role was devised to enable Ohio Democrats to send an uncommitted slate to the party convention. Now that Carter is the front-runner and the Democratic field has been pared, the Donahey strategy is being reassessed.

The meeting is scheduled for Cleveland, which is the halfway point in Carter's two-day Ohio campaign trip, scheduled to begin this morning.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 28, the 149th day of 1976. There are 217 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1940, in World War II, British and French troops began an enormous evacuation from Dunkerque, France.

On this date: In 1940, King Leopold III of Belgium surrendered his army to German invaders in World War II.

In 1959, two monkeys named Able and Baker survived a 300-mile trip into space after being launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in the nose of a rocket.

Ten years ago: The military government of South Vietnam attempted to win over Buddhist opposition with gestures of reconciliation after attempting military force.

Five years ago: In Yuba City, Calif., a sheriff confirmed the discovery of five more bodies buried in fruit orchards, bringing the number of killings to 20.

One year ago: President Ford arrived in Brussels, Belgium on his first trip to Europe as President.

Today's birthdays: Retired President Warren Giles of the National Baseball League is 80. Biologist Barry Commoner is 59.

Thought for today: Goodness is the only investment that never fails — Henry David Thoreau, American writer, 1817-1862.

Bicentennial footnote: Twohundred years ago today, the London Post published parts of the American revolutionary pamphlet by Thomas Paine, "Common Sense." There was speculation that the author had been Benjamin Franklin, but friends familiar with Franklin's literary style denied it.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My newborn child has a protruding belly button. I have been told that this can cause a hernia later on. I'm worried.

Mrs. J. L., Ga.

Dear Mrs. L.:

I have a feeling, from the rest of your letter, that your doctor has assured you that you have no cause for concern. Let me add my reassurance.

Very often, there may be a protrusion of the umbilicus, or navel, and it is totally unrelated to the possibility of a hernia. This may be caused by the manner in which the umbilical cord was cut and tied at birth.

In rather rare occasions the umbilical ring is enlarged. This is the place where the umbilical cord first comes out from the abdomen. Even if there is a widening of the ring, it very often tends to become smaller after the first few years of life.

In those instances where surgery is necessary, it is a safe and simple operation.

Since a friend of mine told me that she had "tunnel vision" I think I have it, too. What is the cause of it?

Miss L. F., N.H.

Dear Miss F.:

You obviously are highly susceptible to the influence of your friend's problems. Highly suggestible people must avoid trading symptoms or diagnoses that strictly belong to their friends.

As the name suggests, people with "tunnel vision" seem to be looking through a straight and narrow tube. What is missing from their vision is the wide range of "peripheral" vision that we all normally have.

Visual field studies are readily performed by the ophthalmologist, or eye specialist. By this simple test, the presence or absence of tunnel vision can immediately be decided.

Rather than guessing and worrying, have these tests done.

Are skin cancers of the face as dangerous as other cancers?

Mr. J. G., Calif.

Dear Mr. G.:

Any open sore of the skin should be carefully examined if it fails to heal after a reasonable length of time. This is imperative because the rate of cure of skin cancers can be almost 100 per cent if they are recognized and treated early.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

In response to the letters regarding the students from the Pickaway Ross Joint Vocational Center I would like to state the following:

1. Circleville students attending the vocational school are not excluded from activities at Circleville High School. Most activities are scheduled after school hours with the exception of "pep rallies."
2. The vocational school requested that each of the eleven schools who comprise the vocational center limit requests for early dismissal for "pep rallies" to two times per year. I requested early dismissal on only one occasion because most of our "pep rallies" begin at 3:00 p.m. and the vocational bus returns to Circleville High School at approximately 3:05 p.m. each day of the school year.
3. The student council of Circleville High School plans and organizes the awards assembly which involves approximately one-hundred students receiving awards. The omission of two vocational awards was an unfortunate oversight for which I am responsible.
4. All seniors from the vocational school have been approved to attend all commencement rehearsals.
5. Class officers and the Play Director choose class plays.
6. The Circleville High School Guidance Counselors, class advisors, Athletic Director and myself have communicated with the vocational school by telephone, public address announcements, letters and vocational student carriers whenever necessary during the school year.
7. Cap and gown arrangements and senior announcements were scheduled at the vocational school to make it more convenient for the vocational students.
8. The citizens of Circleville have provided an excellent facility for the students of Circleville High School and the staff and administration encourages all students to take advantage of this educational opportunity.

"What's one-seventy-two divided by three?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My newborn child has a protruding belly button. I have been told that this can cause a hernia later on. I'm worried.

Mrs. J. L., Ga.

Dear Mrs. L.:

I have a feeling, from the rest of your letter, that your doctor has assured you that you have no cause for concern. Let me add my reassurance.

Very often, there may be a protrusion of the umbilicus, or navel, and it is totally unrelated to the possibility of a hernia. This may be caused by the manner in which the umbilical cord was cut and tied at birth.

In rather rare occasions the umbilical ring is enlarged. This is the place where the umbilical cord first comes out from the abdomen. Even if there is a widening of the ring, it very often tends to become smaller after the first few years of life.

In those instances where surgery is necessary, it is a safe and simple

operation.

Since a friend of mine told me that she had "tunnel vision" I think I have it, too. What is the cause of it?

Miss L. F., N.H.

Dear Miss F.:

You obviously are highly susceptible to the influence of your friend's problems. Highly suggestible people must avoid trading symptoms or diagnoses that strictly belong to their friends.

As the name suggests, people with "tunnel vision" seem to be looking through a straight and narrow tube. What is missing from their vision is the wide range of "peripheral" vision that we all normally have.

Visual field studies are readily performed by the ophthalmologist, or eye specialist. By this simple test, the presence or absence of tunnel vision can immediately be decided.

Rather than guessing and worrying, have these tests done.

Are skin cancers of the face as dangerous as other cancers?
Mr. J. G., Calif.

Dear Mr. G.:

Any open sore of the skin should be carefully examined if it fails to heal after a reasonable length of time. This is imperative because the rate of cure of skin cancers can be almost 100 per cent if they are recognized and treated early.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

In response to the letters regarding the students from the Pickaway Ross Joint Vocational Center I would like to state the following:

1. Circleville students attending the vocational school are not excluded from activities at Circleville High School. Most activities are scheduled after school hours with the exception of "pep rallies."

2. The vocational school requested that each of the eleven schools who comprise the vocational center limit requests for early dismissal for "pep rallies" to two times per year. I requested early dismissal on only one occasion because most of our "pep rallies" begin at 3:00 p.m. and the vocational bus returns to Circleville High School at approximately 3:05 p.m. each day of the school year.

3. The student council of Circleville High School plans and organizes the awards assembly which involves approximately one-hundred students receiving awards. The omission of two vocational awards was an unfortunate oversight for which I am responsible.

4. All seniors from the vocational school have been approved to attend all commencement rehearsals.

5. Class officers and the Play Director choose class plays.

6. The Circleville High School Guidance Counselors, class advisors, Athletic Director and myself have communicated with the vocational school by telephone, public address announcements, letters and vocational student carriers whenever necessary during the school year.

7. Cap and gown arrangements and senior announcements were scheduled at the vocational school to make it more convenient for the vocational students.

The citizens of Circleville have provided an excellent facility for the students of Circleville High School and the staff and administration encourages all students to take advantage of this educational opportunity.

Sincerely,
PAUL L. SARCHET

Wallace Having Difficult Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The fiery governor of Alabama is back on the campaign trail in his fourth bid for the presidency. But, Gov. George C. Wallace's campaign has fallen on hard times.

Wallace, who ran as a third party candidate in 1964 and 1968 and as a Democrat in 1972 and this year, has done little active campaigning for the Democratic nomination.

In an appearance in Columbus in April, Wallace told his state supporters he probably would not be making many Ohio appearances because of the press of state business in Alabama.

However, he has held occasional airport appearances in other primary states. An airport appearance at the Greater Cincinnati Airport in Covington, Ky., doubled for both the Kentucky and Ohio primaries.

Wallace's campaign appearances also have been hampered by the paralysis of his legs, the result of a bullet fired by a would-be assassin in the 1972 campaign.

The paralysis also has been an issue in his campaign as some have questioned his ability to physically function as president. Wallace, 56, insists he is in good physical health.

"I'm as healthy as I ever was except that I can't walk," he says. His personal physician, Dr. H.H. Hutchinson, concurred, saying Wallace is "fully capable of serving as president." Hutchinson said Wallace has had "typical problems in day-to-day living of the paraplegic," but said he believes most of the serious problems are "in the past."

However, Wallace refused to submit medical records for review to the Medical World News, which obtained the records of 12 other major candidates.

In economic affairs, Wallace has advocated curtailment of interest rates and government spending, but does not say where he would curtail programs except for the general area of welfare, which he calls "ripoffs." He says "billions of dollars" could be saved by eliminating "ripoffs," but has not been specific on the proposals.

Wallace advocates reforming the tax structure to "make it more equitable and give a break to the middle class." He says revamping of the tax structure would enable business and industry to increase productivity "and then the private sector would help to bring about a relief of the unemployment situation."

In January, he proposed a public works program which would emphasize building highways, transit system, sewers, water projects and environmental control projects. He did not specify its cost, but said it would be financed by funds diverted from a closely-monitored welfare system and from foreign aid now going to countries which call the United States "imperialist warmongers."

He has called for increasing the personal exemption in income tax from $750 to $1,200, a proposal the Treasury Department says would cost $16 billion to $18 billion in lost tax revenues.

In energy policy, Wallace says the nation must have a strong voluntary conservation program. He says the nation must complete construction of the Alaskan pipeline and build a second pipeline if the oil reserves will support it.

He also has recommended stepped up offshore drilling. But, he says the "big answer" is coal, which could be used to make the United States energy independent.

He opposes forced busing for racial integration of the schools, saying that a majority of both white and black citizens are against it. He advocates a constitutional amendment to prohibit forced busing. However, Wallace no longer advocates segregation.

He also opposes abortion, favoring a constitutional amendment to "protect the lives of unborn children." He has said that "the actions of the Supreme Court on abortions are another example of a destruction of true values in our society."

Speaking at a senior citizens' center in Florida, Wallace proposed legislation allowing retirees to work at a paying job while still drawing pensions. He termed the present restriction on retirees' income "ludicrous and asinine."

In foreign affairs, Wallace says it is necessary to continue a dialogue with the Soviet Union and China.

"We cannot get to the point where we refuse to talk," Wallace said. But he adds that "we should realize the realities of who we're dealing with...those who have never kept any agreement unless it was for their advantage..."

"The best way to talk and negotiate and have a policy of detente that would eventually work is for this nation to retain its superiority in military offensive and defensive capabilities."

In the Middle East, Wallace has promised to make a strong commitment to Israel a major part of his foreign policy. He also has said he opposes using Israeli territory for formation of a Palestinian state.

Wallace also has said that he would not recognize the Cuban government of Fidel Castro.

Wallace said Castro "is a bandit, and he needs to be ignored by us and he'll never be recognized by us as long as I'm president."

Kiwanis Club Has Three Speakers

Circleville Kiwanis Club had three speakers Monday — Fred Bowers, Virgil Cress and Mrs. Vera Saunders. Program chairman was Dave Scheible.

Bowers spoke of the Kiwanis International Magazine and its importance to the thousands of Kiwanis members.

Virgil Cress spoke on the formation of the first Kiwanis Club in observance of the club's 47th birthday. Cress told Kiwanians the Circleville Club was organized May 27, 1929 and was sponsored by the Chillicothe Kiwanis Club. He also named the charter members of the club and told of the important functions of the club during its early years.

Mrs. Saunders, coordinator of the Pickaway County Senior Citizens center, spoke on the activities and problems of the senior citizens center in this county. She told Kiwanians that the local center has over 600 members with activities in many fields. She stated the local senior citizens had sent over 20 art works to a senior citizens art show in Columbus and that 27 paintings were on display in the Second National Bank. She also stated the local organization is active in traveling to various places of interest in the state and that many of them would attend the hall of fame dinner to be sponsored at the Rhoades Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds. Mrs. Saunders also stated that plans for a new senior citizens complex were about completed. The new complex will be located on the Tarlton Road and will have the name, Pickaway Terrace, Inc.

Guests included Steve Penn, a member of the Circleville High School Key Club; senior members Dr. R. L. Sprouse, Frank Gans, and Charles Whitfield.

A special feature of the program was a large birthday cake presented to Ray Cundiff by Mart and Trudy Sharrett, owners of Pickaway Arms. The cake was in honor of the anniversary observance of the club.

Norman Vinyard, co-chairman of the Kiwanis Rodeo, announced plans are moving forward towards the July 1 date for the Kiwanis sponsored rodeo to be held on the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Cundiff announced the Circleville Club Chess Championship has been won by Dave Scheibel who will play the champion of Mound-builders Club, George Huskey, for the grand championship.

Jim Shea stated the Kiwanis Flag Pageant was scheduled for an engagement Friday at Commercial Point.

Cundiff announced that there will be no meeting Monday because it is a holiday. Instead, a roundtable will be held at Pickaway Arms 7 p.m. Wednesday followed by the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors.

Amtrak Sets Day Train

WASHINGTON (AP) — Directors of Amtrak decided Wednesday to institute a new day train between Washington and Cincinnati instead of more costly overnight service between the capital and Denver.

The announcement by the national rail passenger corporation said planners told the board that service could begin as early as Oct. 25 if work on tracks and facilities can get under way quickly this summer.

Capital improvements required include improved trainservicing facilities in Cincinnati and rehabilitation or new construction at the intermediate stations on the route. These include Cumberland, Md.; Keyser, Oakland, Rowlesburg, Grafton, Clarksburg and Parkersburg, W. Va.; and Athens and Chillicothe, Ohio.

The tentative schedule calls for a daily westbound train leaving Washington at 9 a.m. and arriving at Cincinnati at 11:30 p.m. An eastbound train would leave Cincinnati daily at 7:30 a.m., arriving here at 10 p.m. New locomotives and coaches will be used.

Mrs. Radcliffe To Attend Seminar In Washington D.C.

Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe of Circleville will travel to Washington D.C. to study United States foreign policy and food policy, meet with legislators and lobbyists, and examine the role of the church in bringing a voice of conscience to the government.

The study tour, entitled "We The People, 1976" is sponsored by United Methodist Women and will last four days. Mrs. Radcliffe serves as president for the West Ohio Conference of the women's organization which numbers 1.5 million members throughout the nation.

The purpose of the seminar is to assist the officers of United Methodist Women to carry out their social justice program locally.

Udall Woos Labor Vote In Cleveland

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford campaigns for the election of her husband today in four Ohio cities.

Making her second Ohio visit this month, Mrs. Ford will attend Republican gatherings in Akron, Canton, Dayton and Findlay before returning to Washington tonight.

She arrived in Akron late Thursday after campaigning in New Jersey. She was greeted by Akron Mayor John Ballard and Canton Mayor Stanley A. Crish.

The first lady's initial speaking engagement was to be this morning at a reception sponsored by the Akron President Ford Committee.

She was then to fly to Dayton to attend a performance of the Dayton Civic Ballet outside the Dayton courthouse, across the street from the local Ford campaign headquarters.

A reception at the Dayton campaign office also was scheduled before her departure for a 2:30 p.m. rally at the Findlay airport.

The Ford organization in Findlay was to host the first lady in a late afternoon reception before her return to Washington.

Betty Ford Visits State

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., wasted no time wooing the critical labor vote as he returned here Thursday night to campaign for what he calls the showdown primary.

Upon landing in Cleveland, Udall visited a bar near the Ford Motor Co. plant in suburban Brookpark where auto workers and others often congregate.

Udall said he was the only candidate to pledge that he would lead the fight to repeal right-to-work laws. He accused frontrunner Jimmy Carter of dodging the issue.

Carter has said that if Congress passes a bill repealing right-to-work laws he would sign it if he were president. "There's no way in heaven the bill will get passed unless the President leads the fight," Udall said.

Udall is counting on labor support to do well in the June 8th primary. In northeast Ohio, he has the support of some auto workers and steelworkers locals.

Winning, or at least doing well in Ohio, is essential to Udall's strategy of going into the national convention with the second largest number of committed delegates and hoping for an open convention.

He intends to spend about $250,000 for his campaign budget in Ohio and has a full campaign staff that includes Mark Shields, a former political adviser to former Gov. James J. Gilligan and who now works with Boston Mayor Kevin White.

Saltcreek Grange To Host Scioto

Scioto Valley Grange members will be guests of the Saltcreek Valley Grange on Tuesday evening June first.

The guests will present the literary program under the direction of Ethel Siegle, lecturer of the Scioto Valley Grange.

Members of the host grange are reminded to furnish desserts for the refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Politics-Religion Mix Pondered

NEW YORK (AP) — Some political commentators, on the air and in print, are saying that religion has no place in politics. This is an old claim of some pietists who would restrict faith to the private sphere, but it's contrary to the teachings of the major historic churches.

It's also "non-Biblical and un-theological," says the Rev. Dr. Donald Shriver, president of New York's Union Theological Seminary, the country's oldest interdenominational educational institution. "Biblical faith includes both dimensions, the personal and the social. This is way beyond debate in Christian thought today."

What brought the issue to the forefront is the emergence of religious elements in the race for the U.S. presidential nomination, with various political commentators saying it shouldn't be there, implying that the religious character of a man shouldn't count or be mentioned.

"A man's religion, or lack thereof, is his own business," writes historian-political analyst Arthur Schlesinger Jr., contending that "religion should stay out of politics."

Most complaints about it have been triggered by the candidly avowed Christian convictions of Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter, although other candidates also affirm their religious beliefs, albeit generally in less explicit terms.

"It's almost as if a politician merely mentions the name of God, it's some kind of heresy," observes Dr. Shriver, a Presbyterian and specialist in Christian ethics. "But many people are interested in knowing the religious convictions of national leaders. It's a basic, motivating influence."

Since Carter, a Southern Baptist, cites the late great Lutheran theologian Reinhold Niebuhr as his favorite theologian, Schlesinger says this is reassuring because Niebuhr insisted that simple "pietistic moralism" could not solve complex social problems, quoting Niebuhr as saying: "American Christianity tends to be irrelevant to the problems of justice because it persists in presenting the law of love as a simple solution for every moral problem ... Christian moralism has made meager contributions to the issues to justice in modern society."

"This, however, is precisely the lapse in Christian functioning early in this century that Niebuhr so scathingly assailed. It's the very pietism that he attacked," says Dr. Shriver.

Both as a pastor in Detroit's early labor struggles and in his subsequent years of teaching and writing, Niebuhr stressed that Biblical faith involved more than simple private "moralisms," and had relevance to the whole of life, social and political.

To Niebuhr, the great "danger to the church was its failure to involve itself in the contentious issues of American common life, writes Dr. Stone. "He spent his life trying to find ways to articulate the relevance of the Gospel to American social problems."

On Books And Activities At The Library

Monday, May 31, will be a holiday for the staff of Pickaway County District Public Library. The facility will be closed on that date. Summer hours will go into effect on June 1st. They will be: 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Monday-Thursday; 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday and Saturday. There will be lots of good summer reading available so plan to make the library a regular stop when you're in town!

Politics will continue to gather momentum as we move toward election. Knowledge of the people and policies shaping our Government is necessary to responsible voters. Books can supply that knowledge.

"The Secret Conversations Of Henry Kissinger" by Matti Golan documents the Secretary of State's diplomatic moves from the start of the Arab-Israeli War to the recent disengagement talks in Geneva.

"Watch Out For George Wallace" is a fascinating political portrait by Wayne Greenhaw. It provides ammunition for those who find the Wallace phenomenon too close for comfort.

Josh Logan ranks among the foremost men of stage and screen. "Josh," his autobiography, shares with the reader over 40 years of public success and private torment.

"Controversy" by William Manchester is a collection of essays about important people and topics. The lead essay deals with the author's controversy with Jackie Kennedy over his book "The Death Of A President."

Al Sperber has written a valuable book about blindness. "Out Of Sight" dispels that stereotypes with which the sighted regard the blind.

Nutrition and diets are the subjects of two new books. "The Meditation Diet" by Richard Tyson combines meditation, body awareness techniques and proper foods.

"Supernutrition" by Richard Passwater presents a vitamin program calculated to help you live longer.

Mental illness and how to deal with it are the themes of "The Troubled Mind" by Solomon H. Snyder. It covers the entire range of emotional troubles from mild neurotic disorder to the most serious psychosis.

Summer always brings an increased interest in show horses. "The Complete Book Of The Appaloosa" by Jan Haddle is an informative guide to the breed.

The former Vice-President's novel of political intrigue is on the shelf. "The Canfield Decision" by Spiro T. Agnew is the story of the high drama played out in the power cities of the world among the men and women who vie for the rewards and the spoils of high office. "The Last Day Before Sunrise" by Thomas Wiseman is a novel written within a framework of historical events. It re-creates in detail the last days of the Third Reich.

Isabelle Holland is one of the better gothic writers. "Darcourt" has her usual touch of sophistication and suspense.

The world of the beauty spa is the setting for "The Fountains" by Sylvia Wallace. It's the modern, up-beat story of five women seeking escape in the lavish ambience.

Suspense and crime readers have some new titles to enjoy this week. "Caroline, Caroline" by Margaret Ritter is a gothic with a strange spell cast over the island off Cape Cod.

"Tremorra Towers" by Helen York is a romantic suspense novel set in a majestic manor on the coast of Cornwall.

"The Crown Estate" by Evelyn Berckman unfolds two dramas separated in time but linked by an inexorable fate.

"The Winthrop Covenant" by Louis Auchincloss is a chronicle spanning three centuries of the Winthrop family and portraying the rise and fall of the Puritan ethic.

"Scenes Of Crime" by Lesley Egan, "The House On 9th Street" by John Strange and a new Superintendent Folly mystery, "Murder In The Family" by John Creasey should whet the appetites of our "Who-done-it" readers.

Add a new story collection called "Details Of A Sunset" by Vladimir Nabokov and you have an interesting variety of reading choices.

Enjoy the long weekend and don't forget to relax with a good book!

Soil Stewardship Week Is Observed

STEWARDSHIP — This is Soil Stewardship Week. A well-husbanded farm nurtures the body and soul.

By DON ARCHER
Pickaway
SWCD Conservationist

"Waste not, want not" was born of frugal hacking of a hard living from rocky hillsides. It is as true today as it was ever true for the early settlers.

The family that wastes its God-given resources — soil or water, time or strength — is the family that falls apart. He who forgets God's laws by neglecting or abusing the heaven-sent blessings of the land forgets God. When God is not the Head of the family, the family must wither as the branch cut from the vine.

A well-husbanded farm or ranch nurtures body and soul. It gives the young people a solid future, something to plan for and to build on. They stay for the beauty and abundance and holy family love. It comforts the parents in their last years.

A farm wasted provides less than enough. Families break up. Members scatter, driven by ugliness and want. "The earth is the Lord's" — given to all men of all time as His greatest material gift, but only loaned to each generation. The persons who have access to created natural resources sin against God and man when they

Vacation Bible School Planned At Church Of Christ

The program has been prepared by Northridge Church of Christ for Vacation Bible School to be held June 7 through June 11.

"God's Love Is Jesus" is the theme for the school, to be held each weekday from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m.

Classes will be offered for all ages from Nursery (ages 3) through High School.

The central goal of Vacation Bible School is that: That souls be won to Christ and grow in Christ. Bible-based lessons will be taught, students will be challenged and involved through such activities as song time, Bible study, interesting visual demonstrations, rap sessions, craft making, and many other innovative methods that teach the concept, "God's Love Is Jesus!" The Bible School offering will be going to Grundy Mt. Mission School, Grundy, Va.

For information regarding attending, call 474-8602 or 474-7095.

Our closing program will be presented Sunday evening, June 13 7:30 p.m. Parents and friends are invited.

Church Briefs

The sermon topic at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Sunday will be "Visions and Dreams"

Dr. Leonard Stigler, interim pastor of the Logan Elm Baptist Mission located at the 4-H and Grange Building, Pickaway County Fairgrounds, will preach at both services Sunday.

The Crusaders Quartet will hold an open air service 4 p.m. Sunday at Adelphi United Methodist Church.

A men's quartet, Reflection, will appear at Good Hope United Methodist Church Monday. A potluck supper will be held at 6 p.m. and a concert at 8

Young Drinkers

PRAGUE (AP) — Only half of the 15-year-olds in Czechoslovakia drink no alcohol. By the time they are 18, only 17 per cent do not drink, according to a Czech newspaper.

The concert group is from Oral Roberts University.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner has chosen "The $1 Sermon" as his church topic Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

"The Nature of The Church" is the sermon topic selected by the Rev. Henry A. Walters Sunday at the Presbyterian Church.

"The Inevitable Thing In Life" will be the sermon by the Rev. David Frazer at Community United Methodist Church Sunday.

"Six Ways to Face It" is the title of the morning sermon at East Ringgold United Methodist Church. There will be no evening service so that parents may attend high school graduation ceremony.

There will be a special service tonight, Saturday and Sunday at Kingston Nazarene Church featuring the Lewis Reynolds Family. The service is 7:30 p.m. tonight and Saturday and 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Stoutsville UM Plans Revival

The Stoutsville Charge of the United Methodist Church which consists of Fairview, St. John, and St. Paul Churches have scheduled a week long revival meeting with Curt and Charlotte Davis, nationally known evangelistic organist and singer, and Rev. Phillip Brooks of Harrisburg as evangelist.

Services will be held at the St. John Church on Leist Avenue in Stoutsville at 7:30 p.m. each evening beginning May 30 through June 6. Mr. Davis will begin to play about 7:15 p.m. each evening, and the children as well as the adults will enjoy all types of organ music as well as the singing of his wife, Charlotte.

Rev. Phillip Brooks of Harrisburg, a graduate of Asbury Seminary Wilmore, Kentucky is one of the young United Methodist pastors with a message of God's love and salvation for all people.

WHICH WAY TO TURN?

There he goes, walking into the future. But what direction will he take? Whatever his choice, he will have to face problems and obstacles before his chosen goals can be reached.

One thing is sure, the years ahead hold much promise. One day he may be landing a jet on a carrier at sea, building a bridge in a foreign country, closing a big sale, or perhaps covering a fast-breaking news story. But to successfully reach his goal he will have to find the strength and wisdom to rise above the knotty problems of life.

Fortunately, he need not make his decisions alone. With the help of the Church, he can determine a course for successfully living his life in the world of tomorrow.

Soil Stewardship Week Is Observed

STEWARDSHIP — This is Soil Stewardship Week. A well-husbanded farm nurtures the body and soul.

By DON ARCHER
Pickaway
SWCD Conservationist

"Waste not, want not" was born of frugal hacking of a hard living from rocky hillsides. It is as true today as it was ever true for the early settlers.

The family that wastes its God-given resources — soil or water, time or strength — is the family that falls apart. He who forgets God's laws by neglecting or abusing the heaven-sent blessings of the land forgets God. When God is not the Head of the family, the family must wither as the branch cut from the vine.

A well-husbanded farm or ranch nurtures body and soul. It gives the young people a solid future, something to plan for and to build on. They stay for the beauty and abundance and holy family love. It comforts the parents in their last years.

A farm wasted provides less than enough. Families break up. Members scatter, driven by ugliness and want.

"The earth is the Lord's" — given to all men of all time as His greatest material gift, but only loaned to each generation. The persons who have access to created natural resources sin against God and man when they destroy those resources. Land ownership is, in God's sight, stewardship. It requires of the owner the continued improvement of his acres. It enables the prosessor to develop the full human life for himself and his family and for society.

Neither the family nor future families can thrive on the bare bones of gutted soil. Blessed is he who will one day win the name, "Good and faithful steward."

Pastor Carl G. Zehner has chosen "The $1 Sermon" as his church topic Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

"The Nature of The Church" is the sermon topic selected by the Rev. Henry A. Walters Sunday at the Presbyterian Church.

"The Inevitable Thing In Life" will be the sermon by the Rev. David Frazer at Community United Methodist Church Sunday.

"Six Ways to Face It" is the title of the morning sermon at East Ringgold United Methodist Church. There will be no evening service so that parents may attend high school graduation ceremony.

There will be a special service tonight, Saturday and Sunday at Kingston Nazarene Church featuring the Lewis Reynolds Family. The service is 7:30 p.m. tonight and Saturday and 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Stoutsville UM Plans Revival

The Stoutsville Charge of the United Methodist Church which consists of Fairview, St. John, and St. Paul Churches have scheduled a week long revival meeting with Curt and Charlotte Davis, nationally known evangelistic organist and singer, and Rev. Phillip Brooks of Harrisburg as evangelist.

Services will be held at the St. John Church on Leist Avenue in Stoutsville at 7:30 p.m. each evening beginning May 30 through June 6. Mr. Davis will begin to play about 7:15 p.m. each evening, and the children as well as the adults will enjoy all types of organ music as well as the singing of his wife, Charlotte.

Rev. Phillip Brooks of Harrisburg, a graduate of Asbury Seminary Wilmore, Kentucky is one of the young United Methodist pastors with a message of God's love and salvation for all people.

WHICH WAY TO TURN?

There he goes, walking into the future. But what direction will he take? Whatever his choice, he will have to face problems and obstacles before his chosen goals can be reached.

One thing is sure, the years ahead hold much promise. One day he may be landing a jet on a carrier at sea, building a bridge in a foreign country, closing a big sale, or perhaps covering a fast-breaking news story. But to successfully reach his goal he will have to find the strength and wisdom to rise above the knotty problems of life.

Fortunately, he need not make his decisions alone. With the help of the Church, he can determine a course for successfully living his life in the world of tomorrow.

TWO STROKES — Jack Nicklaus looks for his ball in a creek which parallels the 18th hole at Muirfield Village. Jack's tee shot strayed left into the water hazard and caused him to lose two strokes to tournament leader Don Bies.

HUBIE — The PGA's leading money winner, Hubie Green, blasts to within two feet of the 13th green enroute to a 69 in Thursday's opening round of the Muirfield Village Memorial Tournament. Don Bies is the leader with a 68.

Muirfield Course Proves Toughie

Herald City Editor

Muirfield Village, a course designed by Jack Nicklaus to reward good shots and penalize bad ones, was the big winner in Thursday's opening round of the $200,000 Memorial Tournament.

Every one of the top-flight players in the tournament carded at least two bogeys and there were 16 players who failed to break 80.

In fact, the scores were so high that a 157 was the projected cut figure today. That's 10 strokes higher than the 147 at the Heritage, the year's previous high.

Some of golf's biggest names were

Celtics Rip Suns, 105-90

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's pro basketball fans are used to watching the Celtics destroy opposing teams with one explosive period. But rarely have they witnessed anything like what they saw in the second game of the 1976 National Basketball Association championship series.

With a capacity crowd of 15,320 screaming loudly Thursday night, the Celtics combined near-perfect offense and defense for the first five minutes of the third period, outscoring the jittery Phoenix Suns 20-2. After that, the Celtics had to put down only one belated Phoenix rally before registering a 105-90 victory and assuming a 2-0 lead in the nationally televised best-of-seven series.

"The crowd really got psyched," Phoenix rookie center Alvan Adams said afterwards.

What really set the crowd afire was a deliberate foul called against former Celtics' backcourt man Paul Westphal with Boston leading 51-41 early in the third quarter.

Westphal was called for the rare infraction when he grabbed Boston's Jo Jo White from behind as the Celtics' guard headed for what appeared to be an easy layup after he had stolen the ball from his ex-teammate.

caught up in the spectacular, 7,072 yard monster. Bruce Crampton and Tom Weiskopf managed 77s and Lee Trevino, who hit four balls in the water hazards, needed a 15-foot putt on the final hole to break 80.

After the air cleared Thursday, Don Bies, a little-known pro, has atop the field with a four-under par 68, one stroke ahead of Hubie Green, the tour's leading money winner.

But the course caught the trailers. Gibby Gilbert, coasting towards a share of the lead, wound up with a double bogey on 17 and a score of 70, two shots off the pace.

And Nicklaus, admittedly more concerned with the course than his game, three putted 17 for a bogey and found the water on 18 for a double bogey that lead him to a 71, four back.

Jerry McGee, who had three bogeys; Hal Irwin, who had only two; and Roger Maultbie, who didn't have a three putt green, were all tied with Jack at 71s.

Bies reversed a horrendous 79 in Tuesday's Pro-Am by "keepin the ball in play." He hit the first 11 greens and came up with an eagle three on 15 with a 30-foot putt.

"I didn't have a fantastic round," he said, "but I had a good score." His secret? "You have to be conservative...This is such a tough course, it leaves you on defense."

The ability to chip and putt left Green and Gilbert near the top.

Green banded in eight birdies to gradually climb towards the top, and Gilbert had six.

Nicklaus, who claimed he didn't start to play until his eagle on 5, got caught in the course on the final two holes to fall from the lead.

"I played like a yo-yo, up and down all day," he said.

There are plenty of single-day spectator tickets available for the final three rounds. Columbia Broadcasting System will telecast the weekend rounds, starting at 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 4 p.m. Sunday.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It just doesn't seem possible but once again we have reached that time of year that brings mixed emotions — That's right — It's graduation time for all four Pickaway County High Schools.

Oh, we are happy to see these young people reach the point where they are going to start moving out into their place in the world — But, after you have been associated with a fine group of young men and ladies for several years — It also brings a little choked up feeling knowing that they won't be around to kid with and talk to next year.

We can't help but develop friendships with them as they go through their school years and must admit that they are certainly some of our favorite people. And we will miss the opportunities of seeing them off and on the fields of endeavor.

It has been our privilege to know them and consider them friends and maybe in our own little way we have been able to help them along the line.

We'll miss the fine athletes, boys and girls, who have thrilled the crowd with their performances and added a sense of class to themselves, schools and the community.

But, it's not only the athletes who we'll miss but all of the kids who we have grown to know over the years.

Some will move on to college and some will go to work, but whatever our kids are going to do — You can bet your life they will do it well.

So for now, let us say — So Long and Good Luck — Come and see us when you get a chance because there is nothing we enjoy better than being with people we like and discussing old times.

But, most of all — When you go out into the world, remember one thing — Just treat everyone else the way you would like to be treated yourself and you'll get along.

And, thanks for being nice to us along the way — It made our job a little bit easier.

Our "fearless" forecast — We still think that Johnny Miller could be the killer in the Memorial Tournament.

Until next time, have a nice day - be a good sport.

Martin Girls Capture District Track Titles

Teay's Valley's Perri Martin, defending AA Sate champion, and Circleville's sophomore sensation Natalie Martin both won AA District track titles Thursday night at Upper Arlington.

Perri successfully defended her State honor when she covered the 880-yard dash in a time of 2:22.0 to take top honors in the event.

Natalie, running for the first time in a District meet, turned it on in the 440-yard dash and clipped the field with a time of 59.8.

Both girls will move into the AA

State meet June 4 and 5 at Ohio State University and must be rated as a couple of the top contenders for State honors.

Their individual times in the 880 and 440 events are rated high in the state and both girls are tough competitors under pressure.

They will give Pickaway County fine representation in the State meet. They will also be cheering for each other as they are not only fine sports but just happen to be cousins.

Circleville's Lisa Leahy set a Circleville High School record when she toured the mile in 5:45.3. But, unfortunately she finished third and only the top two move into State.

The Tigers mile relay team (Lisa Leahy, Nancy Radcliff, Paula Mosley and Natalie Martin) finished in third place with a time of 4:21.0.

Teays Valley's 880 Medley Relay team also placed third and just missed qualifying.

For additional information call 983-2989.

Deer Creek Opens Shooting Range

The shooting range located at the Deer Creek Wildlife Area is open for target practice.

The range has been inaccessible all spring due to the high water stage of Deer Creek. Bridges have been repaired and backstops for targets are in place. A shotgun range for hand traps is also provided on the approach to the target range parking lot.

Shooters are reminded to shoot directly into the high bank of the rifle range and to use paper targets only. Shooters are also requested to use the litter barrels at the range and on all parking lots to dispose of used targets, cartridge boxes, etc.

Rhode Island Beats Syracuse Chiefs, 9-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rhode Island scored its 11th consecutive victory Thursday evening, a 9-6 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs.

There were a total of seven homers in the game. Jack Baker hit his 16th of the season, John Balaz smashed his ninth and Dick Sharon recorded his fourth for the Red Sox.

Syracuse's Juan Bernhardt hit two round-trippers for his third and fourth homers of the season. Perry Whitfield and Rich Bladt clobbered their sixth homers of the season for Syracuse.

In other IL action Thursday evening, Rochester and Toledo split a pair, the Red Wings taking the opener 4-2 and the Mud Hens scoring a 6-4 nightcap triumph. Tidewater defeated Richmond 5-2. The Charleston at Memphis game was postponed due to rain.

The 15 pitchers on the roster of the New York Mets show a 92-94 record for their 1975 major league efforts.

TWO STROKES — Jack Nicklaus looks for his ball in a creek which parallels the 18th hole at Muirfield Village. Jack's tee shot strayed left into the water hazard and caused him to lose two strokes to tournament leader Don Bies.

HUBIE — The PGA's leading money winner, Hubie Green, blasts to within two feet of the 13th green enroute to a 69 in Thursday's opening round of the Muirfield Village Memorial Tournament. Don Bies is the leader with a 68.

Muirfield Course Proves Toughie

Herald City Editor

Muirfield Village, a course designed by Jack Nicklaus to reward good shots and penalize bad ones, was the big winner in Thursday's opening round of the $200,000 Memorial Tournament.

Every one of the top-flight players in the tournament carded at least two bogeys and there were 16 players who failed to break 80.

In fact, the scores were so high that a 157 was the projected cut figure today. That's 10 strokes higher than the 147 at the Heritage, the year's previous high.

Some of golf's biggest names were caught up in the spectacular, 7,072 yard monster. Bruce Crampton and Tom Weiskopf managed 77s and Lee Trevino, who hit four balls in the water hazards, needed a 15-foot putt on the final hole to break 80.

After the air cleared Thursday, Don Bies, a little-known pro, has atop the field with a four-under par 68, one stroke ahead of Hubie Green, the tour's leading money winner.

But the course caught the trailers. Gibby Gilbert, coasting towards a share of the lead, wound up with a double bogey on 17 and a score of 70, two shots off the pace.

And Nicklaus, admittedly more concerned with the course than his game, three putted 17 for a bogey and found the water on 18 for a double bogey that led him to a 71, four back.

Jerry McGee, who had three bogeys; Hal Irwin, who had only two; and Roger Maultbie, who didn't have a three putt green, were all tied with Jack at 71s.

Bies reversed a horrendous 79 in Tuesday's Pro-Am by "keepin' the ball in play." He hit the first 11 greens and came up with an eagle three on 15 with a 30-foot putt.

"I didn't have a fantastic round," he said, "but I had a good score." His secret? "You have to be conservative...This is such a tough course, it leaves you on defense."

The ability to chip and putt left Green and Gilbert near the top. Green banged in eight birdies to gradually climb towards the top, and Gilbert had six.

Nicklaus, who claimed he didn't start to play until his eagle on 5, got caught in the course on the final two holes to fall from the lead.

"I played like a yo-yo, up and down all day," he said.

There are plenty of single-day spectator tickets available for the final three rounds. Columbia Broadcasting System will telecast the weekend rounds, starting at 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 4 p.m. Sunday.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It just doesn't seem possible but once again we have reached that time of year that brings mixed emotions — That's right — It's graduation time for all four Pickaway County High Schools.

Oh, we are happy to see these young people reach the point where they are going to start moving out into their place in the world — But, after you have been associated with a fine group of young men and ladies for several years — It also brings a little choked up feeling knowing that they won't be around to kid with and talk to next year.

We can't help but develop friendships with them as they go through their school years and must admit that they are certainly some of our favorite people. And we will miss the opportunities of seeing them off and on the fields of endeavor.

It has been our privilege to know them and consider them friends and maybe in our own little way we have been able to help them along the line.

We'll miss the fine athletes, boys and girls, who have thrilled the crowd with their performances and added a sense of class to themselves, schools and the community.

But, it's not only the athletes who we'll miss but all of the kids who we have grown to know over the years.

Some will move on to college and some will go to work, but whatever our kids are going to do — You can bet your life they will do it well.

So for now, let us say — So Long and Good Luck — Come and see us when you get a chance because there is nothing we enjoy better than being with people we like and discussing old times.

But, most of all — When you go out into the world, remember one thing — Just treat everyone else the way you would like to be treated yourself and you'll get along.

And, thanks for being nice to us along the way — It made our job a little bit easier.

Our "fearless" forecast — We still think that Johnny Miller could be the killer in the Memorial Tournament.

Until next time, have a nice day - be a good sport.

Martin Girls Capture District Track Titles

Teay's Valley's Perri Martin, defending AA State champion, and Circleville's sophomore sensation Natalie Martin both won AA District track titles Thursday night at Upper Arlington.

Perri successfully defended her State honor when she covered the 880-yard dash in a time of 2:22.0 to take top honors in the event.

Natalie, running for the first time in a District meet, turned it on in the 440-yard dash and clipped the field with a time of 59.8.

Both girls will move into the AA

State meet June 4 and 5 at Ohio State University and must be rated as a couple of the top contenders for State honors.

Their individual times in the 880 and 440 events are rated high in the state and both girls are tough competitors under pressure.

They will give Pickaway County fine representation in the State meet. They will also be cheering for each other as they are not only fine sports but just happen to be cousins.

Circleville's Lisa Leahy set a Circleville High School record when she toured the mile in 5:45.3. But, unfortunately she finished third and only the top two move into State.

The Tigers mile relay team (Lisa Leahy, Nancy Radcliff, Paula Mosley and Natalie Martin) finished in third place with a time of 4:21.0.

Teays Valley's 880 Medley Relay team also placed third and just missed qualifying.

Upper Lansdowne Sets Tournament

Upper Lansdowne will hold a two-man best ball tournament which will be open to the public June 6.

Jets Win Crown
WINNIPEG (AP) — The Winnipeg Jets gained their firstever World Hockey Association championship Thursday night with a humiliating 9-1 victory over the defending champion Houston Aeros.
The Jets outscored Houston 3-1 in the first period, 4-0 in the second and 2-0 in the third to win their fourth consecutive game and sweep the best-of-seven World Cup final.

Janet Guthrie Sets World 600 Race

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I think she realizes now that I'm not bulling her," enginebuilder Ralph Moody said Thursday after Janet Guthrie became the first woman to qualify for a major stock car race.
Miss Guthrie, foiled in her recent attempts to make the Indianapolis 500 field, averaged 152.797 miles an hour in the former Chevrolet of A.J. Foyt to land the 27th starting position for Sunday's 17th annual World 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway.
"She has proven she can drive a Grand National car and that will help her confidence," said Moody, who built Miss Guthrie's engine. He was half of the former Holman-Moody team whose cars dominated the sport for so many years. "She will get faster and be able to tell us more about the car's handling as she gets experience." Miss Guthrie, a 38-year-old physicist from

New York City, helped bump the likes of veterans Buck Baker, Bobby Isaac and David Sisco from the field. Her two-lap qualifying sprint around the 1.5-mile super speedway was the 12th quickest of the day as 15 drivers made the 40-car field and 18 others were left to vie for 10 spots Friday.
"Don't ask me about that woman driver," quipped Baker, who at age 57 is attempting to make a comeback. "She has already made a fool out of me with my prediction (of 145 m.p.h.). She's in the field and I'm not. I'm ready to believe anything. Even that she can win the race." Baker, who said Miss Guthrie wouldn't make the field, averaged 151.281 in a Chevrolet, about a mile and a half slower than her.
"I wouldn't say that I felt nervous today," Miss Guthrie said. "There's a word that fits the situation better. I call it butterflies."

Jets Win Crown
WINNIPEG (AP) — The Winnipeg Jets gained their firstever World Hockey Association championship Thursday night with a humiliating 9-1 victory over the defending champion Houston Aeros.
The Jets outscored Houston 3-1 in the first period, 4-0 in the second and 2-0 in the third to win their fourth consecutive game and sweep the best-of-seven World Cup final.

Janet Guthrie Sets World 600 Race

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I think she realizes now that I'm not bulling her," enginebuilder Ralph Moody said Thursday after Janet Guthrie became the first woman to qualify for a major stock car race.
Miss Guthrie, foiled in her recent attempts to make the Indianapolis 500 field, averaged 152.797 miles an hour in the former Chevrolet of A.J. Foyt to land the 27th starting position for Sunday's 17th annual World 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway.
"She has proven she can drive a Grand National car and that will help her confidence," said Moody, who built Miss Guthrie's engine. He was half of the former Holman-Moody team whose cars dominated the sport for so many years. "She will get faster and be able to tell us more about the car's handling as she gets experience," Miss Guthrie, a 38-year-old physicist from New York City, helped bump the likes of veterans Buck Baker, Bobby Isaac and David Sisco from the field. Her two-lap qualifying sprint around the 1.5-mile super speedway was the 12th quickest of the day as 15 drivers made the 40-car field and 18 others were left to vie for 10 spots Friday.
"Don't ask me about that woman driver," quipped Baker, who at age 57 is attempting to make a comeback. "She has already made a fool out of me with my prediction (of 145 m.p.h.). She's in the field and I'm not. I'm ready to believe anything. Even that she can win the race." Baker, who said Miss Guthrie wouldn't make the field, averaged 151.281 in a Chevrolet, about a mile and a half slower than her.
"I wouldn't say that I felt nervous today," Miss Guthrie said. "There's a word that fits the situation better. I call it butterflies."

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Fairly favorable influences encourage your interests, but do not go overboard in making program changes. Neither reach for the obviously unattainable.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stress moderation. As with Aries, do not strive for the unreasonable and do not permit your active mind to carry your physical self beyond sensible bounds.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): This day's accent is on career achievement, improved relations with those in positions of authority. A great day for making room for yourself at the top.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be wary of overdoing or overplaying your hand. Evaluate true needs, determine essentials - and tackle in order of importance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Look deeply for answers to problems in which you may have become involved. Don't shut your eyes to them. A bright outlook is yours for the seeing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Curb a tendency to be overly critical. Don't look for weaknesses in others and don't look for flaws in every proposed idea. If one is obvious, point it out, of course.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Take only the short cuts which common sense dictates. In general, you will have to put in extra effort to make this day's activities shape up better, faster.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't listen to what "they" say when you have reason to believe the source is questionable. Stress your good judgment and foresight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): An average day, if you are content to leave it at that. But, if you are ready to accept challenges, it holds the nucleus of fine achievement and new opportunities to reach higher objectives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Get the other fellow's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be flexible, but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A fine day! You may be the recipient of special favors, tokens of good will or other unexpected benefits.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a brilliant intellect and a great love of learning. Your tastes run toward the literary and you have an unusual flair for the dramatic - a tremendous asset should you choose the stage, politics or the law as a career. If you write, your best work would evidence itself in essays, criticism, novels and detective stories. But don't count out journalism and travel literature - "naturals" for the restless, curious Gemini. You have a great gift for oratory and, if starting out in politics or the legal field, this advantage could quickly propel you to a top spot in statesmanship or in the diplomatic field. Other areas suited to your talents: exploration, archeology, music and sculpture. Birthdate of: Patrick Henry, early Amer. statesman; G.K. Chesterton, Eng. journalist, author; U.S. Pres. John F. Kennedy; Bob Hope, comedian.

NEW YORK (AP) — Those of you who aren't roaring off for the Memorial Day weekend should take a look tonight at a timely, excellent CBS News special with the straightforward title of "Busing."

It's a calm, valuable examination of the continuing and at times violent protest over the court-ordered busing of children to achieve desegregation in a number of public schools in America. Narrated and reported by Charles Collingwood, this one-hour special basically is a tale of two cities — Boston and Charlotte, N.C.

In the former, he notes, "busing is still a fighting word" after two years of trial, but in Charlotte, where busing was ordered in 1970, the practice "has achieved grudging acceptance."

The show, which examines how parents, kids and officials of the two cities are reacting to court-ordered busing, also goes into two deeper issues of national consequence.

They are whether busing has helped or harmed the quality of education for the kids involved and what effect the Justice Department's possible Supreme Court test of busing will have — before the court reaches any decision — in areas where busing exists and is being fought.

(CBS says the program will be updated before air time in the event Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides if the Justice Department will use a school desegregation case as a test of busing.)

(The department said Tuesday that Levi is considering using a case in Wilmington, Del., for the court test, but hasn't decided if the department will intervene in Boston's busing fight.)

The striking thing about tonight's program, aside from its thoroughness, is that it doesn't exhibit television's tendency to play up the violence that has accompanied court-ordered busing.

Scenes of violence in Boston and Charlotte are brief, few and far between when used to illustrate the obvious point that passions run high on the issue of busing.

The emphasis is on the thoughtful, low-key statements of officials, civil leaders and educators involved in the busing fight — those who'd abolish busing, those who defend it and those who suggest alternatives to busing or ways of refining it to ease existing tensions.

The general effect of "Busing" is to provide a forum for the voices of reason, not passion, on a subject that's awfully easy to dramatize and extremely hard to explain.

Cleveland Crusaders Sale Possible

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Crusaders' owner Jay Moore says he is very close to selling the World Hockey Association team to Florida businessman Bill Putnam, former president of the Atlanta Flames of the National Hockey League.

Confirming a report published by the Hollywood Sun-Tattler, Moore said Thursday night he has been continuing talks with Putnam and was "on the brink" of selling the financially-ailing Crusaders.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Fairly favorable influences encourage your interests, but do not go overboard in making program changes. Neither reach for the obviously unattainable.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stress moderation. As with Aries, do not strive for the unreasonable and do not permit your active mind to carry your physical self beyond sensible bounds.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): This day's accent is on career achievement, improved relations with those in positions of authority. A great day for making room for yourself at the top.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be wary of overdoing or overplaying your hand. Evaluate true needs, determine essentials - and tackle in order of importance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Look deeply for answers to problems in which you may have become involved. Don't shut your eyes to them. A bright outlook is yours for the seeing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Curb a tendency to be overly critical. Don't look for weaknesses in others and don't look for flaws in every proposed idea. If one is obvious, point it out, of course.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Take only the short cuts which common sense dictates. In general, you will have to put in extra effort to make this day's activities shape up better, faster.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't listen to what "they" say when you have reason to believe the source is questionable. Stress your good judgment and foresight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21): An average day, if you are content to leave it at that. But, if you are ready to accept challenges, it holds the nucleus of fine achievement and new opportunities to reach higher objectives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Get the other fellow's point of view before making final decisions. You may be pleasantly surprised at the new perspectives you gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be flexible, but not easily turned by every wind that blows; eager to take new steps forward, but not at the cost of future losses.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A fine day! You may be the recipient of special favors, tokens of good will or other unexpected benefits.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a brilliant intellect and a great love of learning. Your tastes run toward the literary and you have an unusual flair for the dramatic - a tremendous asset should you choose the stage, politics or the law as a career. If you write, your best work would evidence itself in essays, criticism, novels and detective stories. But don't count out journalism and travel literature - "naturals" for the restless, curious Gemini. You have a great gift for oratory and, if starting out in politics or the legal field, this advantage could quickly propel you to a top spot in statesmanship or in the diplomatic field. Other areas suited to your talents: exploration, archeology, music and sculpture. Birthdate of: Patrick Henry, early Amer. statesman; G.K. Chesterton, Eng. journalist, author; U.S. Pres. John F. Kennedy; Bob Hope, comedian.

NEW YORK (AP) — Those of you who aren't roaring off for the Memorial Day weekend should take a look tonight at a timely, excellent CBS News special with the straightforward title of "Busing."

It's a calm, valuable examination of the continuing and at times violent protest over the court-ordered busing of children to achieve desegregation in a number of public schools in America. Narrated and reported by Charles Collingwood, this one-hour special basically is a tale of two cities — Boston and Charlotte, N.C.

In the former, he notes, "busing is still a fighting word" after two years of trial, but in Charlotte, where busing was ordered in 1970, the practice "has achieved grudging acceptance."

The show, which examines how parents, kids and officials of the two cities are reacting to court-ordered busing, also goes into two deeper issues of national consequence.

They are whether busing has helped or harmed the quality of education for the kids involved and what effect the Justice Department's possible Supreme Court test of busing will have — before the court reaches any decision — in areas where busing exists and is being fought.

(CBS says the program will be updated before air time in the event Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides if the Justice Department will use a school desegregation case as a test of busing.)

The striking thing about tonight's program, aside from its thoroughness, is that it doesn't exhibit television's tendency to play up the violence that has accompanied court-ordered busing.

Scenes of violence in Boston and Charlotte are brief, few and far between when used to illustrate the obvious point that passions run high on the issue of busing.

The emphasis is on the thoughtful, low-key statements of officials, civil leaders and educators involved in the busing fight — those who'd abolish busing, those who defend it and those who suggest alternatives to busing or ways of refining it to ease existing tensions.

The general effect of "Busing" is to provide a forum for the voices of reason, not passion, on a subject that's awfully easy to dramatize and extremely hard to explain.

Cleveland Crusaders Sale Possible
CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Crusaders' owner Jay Moore says he is very close to selling the World Hockey Association team to Florida businessman Bill Putnam, former president of the Atlanta Flames of the National Hockey League.

Confirming a report published by the Hollywood Sun-Tattler, Moore said Thursday night he has been continuing talks with Putnam and was "on the brink" of selling the financially-ailing Crusaders. Michigan's entire automobile industry converted to war production in 1942-1945.

SALUTE TO FANS — Philadelphia Flyers Dave Schultz holds his nose to taunting Maple Leafs fans at Toronto.

A.J. Foyt Seeking 4th Indianapolis Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, the seemingly ageless speedster who has been looking for nearly a decade for a record fourth victory here, gets the nod as a slight favorite over a quartet of other former winners for victory in Sunday's 60th annual Indianapolis 500.

The fifth annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen rated Foyt a 4-1 favorite, with 5-1 odds on pole position starter Johnny Rutherford, Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Mario Andretti.

Defending champion Bobby Unser, with a new team this year, was listed at no better than 11-1.

The 42-year-old Foyt, who has had more than his share of troubles this month, reportedly has solved the problems that resulted in his qualifying a relatively poor fifth in the 33-car lineup.

If there is a dark horse in the field, it figures to be veteran Roger McCluskey, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.

McCluskey is driving a new machine designed by the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine appears to be the best of the lot. McCluskey is starting in the fifth row, but his qualifying speed is sixth fastest over-all.

Here's the line on the other drivers queuing behind Foyt:

At 5-1: Rutherford, a proven driver, proven car, proven team — what more could you ask? Johncock should have no shortage of horsepower with the new George Bignotti engine. Watch out for Al Unser if his Cosworth-powered machine is running at the finish. Andretti, he won't be 19th very long.

At 6-1: Wally Dallenbach, the hard luck loser of last year should be as tough as ever with a little better fortune. McCluskey, if you're a betting person, watch this one — this very well could be his year.

At 7-1: Tom Sneva, only a relative lack of experience keeps him from being rated better this year.

At 8-1: Lloyd Ruby, after what he and his

A.J. Foyt Seeking 4th Indianapolis Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A.J. Foyt, the seemingly ageless speedster who has been looking for nearly a decade for a record fourth victory here, gets the nod as a slight favorite over a quartet of other former winners for victory in Sunday's 60th annual Indianapolis 500.

The fifth annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen rated Foyt a 4-1 favorite, with 5-1 odds on pole position starter Johnny Rutherford, Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Mario Andretti.

Defending champion Bobby Unser, with a new team this year, was listed at no better than 11-1.

The 42-year-old Foyt, who has had more than his share of troubles this month, reportedly has solved the problems that resulted in his qualifying a relatively poor fifth in the 33-car lineup.

If there is a dark horse in the field, it figures to be veteran Roger McCluskey, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.

McCluskey is driving a new machine designed by the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine appears to be the best of the lot. McCluskey is starting in the fifth row, but his qualifying speed is sixth fastest over-all.

Here's the line on the other drivers queuing behind Foyt:

At 5-1: Rutherford, a proven driver,

proven car, proven team — what more could you ask? Johncock should have no shortage of horsepower with the new George Bignotti engine. Watch out for Al Unser if his Cosworth-powered machine is running at the finish. Andretti, he won't be 19th very long.

At 6-1: Wally Dallenbach, the hard luck loser of last year should be as tough as ever with a little better fortune. McCluskey, if you're a betting person, watch this one — this very well could be his year.

At 7-1: Tom Sneva, only a relative lack of experience keeps him from being rated better this year.

At 8-1: Lloyd Ruby, after what he and his team did in just three days to get him in the show, you have to give him a good shot at it.

At 9-1: Pancho Carter, still a little inexperienced like Sneva, but driving a car that is a proven winner. Bill Vukovich, the driver is very capable if the car can finish. Mike Mosley, the perennial dark horse, with an even more intense desire to win this year.

At 10-1: Gary Bettenhausen, a very good journeyman race driver who could win with the right breaks.

At 11-1: Bobby Unser, no question about the driver, but the team has trouble keeping engines together lately.

The remaining drivers in the field were rated at 15-1 or worse.

The AP poll accurately picked Mark Donohue in 1972 and Johncock in 1973. Rutherford, who won in 1974, was a co-favorite that year with Foyt, as was Bobby Unser last year.

Congress Moving To Cut Off Threat Of Tax Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is taking steps to head off a tax increase scheduled for July 1 that would cost a typical four-member American family earning $15,000 an extra $180 annually.

The Senate Finance Committee voted unanimously Thursday in favor of extending current tax cuts. The House has approved a similar bill.

If the antirecession tax cuts enacted last year are allowed to expire as scheduled on July 1, it would mean a $245 tax increase for a family of four earning $6,000 a year; a $204 hike for a couple earning $10,000, and a $151 increase for a single person with adjusted gross income of $10,000.

The Senate bill also has some bad news for wealthy investors and some good news for housewives and working parents.

Some of the provisions that have been used by investors to shield their incomes from taxation would be tightened, but not as much as by a bill passed by the House last year.

Working parents would be allowed a tax credit of up to $800 a year for certain childcare and household expenses necessary for both parents — or the sole parent — to work.

And for the first time, a housewife could qualify for tax-exempt treatment of contributions to a pension fund. This would be available only to persons whose spouses are not covered by a company retirement plan but who contribute to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

At a cost to the U.S. treasury of $40 million a year, the spouse's maximum

Sheriff Talks On Rural Crime Prevention

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was a member of a discussion panel at the two-day Governor's Council on Aging held May 25 and 26 in Columbus.

Topic was Effective Crime Prevention — What Cities and Counties Are Doing, and What You Can Do, Too.

Former State Senator Harry Armstrong was chairman of the panel.

Sheriff Radcliff spoke on Preventing Crime in Rural Areas; Henry Sandman, assistant city manager of Cincinnati, spoke on Reduced Crime in Cities; Cleveland Municipal Court Judge Sara Harper spoke on an effective Victim Assistance Program; Bud Goodwin, superintendent of the Ohio Peace Officers Training School, spoke on Training Police; and Col. Alphonso Montgomery, assistant director of the Administration of Justice, Department of Economic and Community Development, spoke on Using LEAA Funds for Crime Prevention.

IRA contribution of $1,500 a year could be increased to $2,000 for a joint retirement fund to cover husband and wife.

Extension of the tax cuts will allow current withholding rates from paychecks to continue. Here are the tax cuts that would be extended:

—Increases in the standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize, would be made permanent at a cost of $4.1 billion a year. The minimum is $1,700 for single persons and $2,100 for joint returns; the maximum is $2,400 for singles and $2,800 for joint returns.

—A $35 credit — which is subtracted directly from taxes owed — is provided for a taxpayer and each dependent at a cost of $9.6 billion. This would be extended through June 30, 1976, to allow the new Congress and the next president to gauge the economy before determining whether it should be renewed again.

As an alternative, a taxpayer could have a credit of 2 per cent of the first $9,000 of taxable income, or a maximum credit of $180.

—A "work bonus" for poor, working families with children would become permanent. Under this provision, costing $4.1 billion a year, a family is given a tax credit of up to 10 per cent of earned income up to $4,000. The benefit phases out at $8,000 income.

Also made permanent are reduced corporate taxes to benefit small business. The rate is 20 per cent on the first $25,000 of taxable income, 22 per cent on the next $25,000 and 48 per cent above $50,000.

Here are some other key provisions in the bill:

PRIVACY — Rules limiting White House, congressional and Justice Department access to tax returns would be strengthened. One provision could make news organizations liable to prosecution for receiving and printing private tax returns.

SHELTERS — Wealthy investors would find it less profitable to invest in oil-and-gas, movies, farming and other operations that provide quick deductions to offset regular income.

MINIMUM TAX — The minimum tax, designed to ensure that all wealthy persons pay some tax, would be strengthened. There still would be no assurance that some would not escape taxation.

GASOLINE TAX — A person could not deduct state and local gasoline taxes except to the extent they exceed $50.

HOME DEDUCTION — Many individuals now claim a deduction for a portion of the cost of maintaining a home on grounds they use it in their job. No deduction would be allowed unless the home is used regularly as a place of business or as a place where business is conducted with patients or customers.

SICK PAY — Current law exempts from taxes a portion of payments made by an employer to a sick worker. The bill would eliminate this and substitute a tax deduction of $100 a week for persons under 65 who retired with a permanent disability.

ENERGY — A family could save up to $225 in taxes by insulating the home, and up to $2,000 by installing a geothermal or solar-powered heating system. Similar tax breaks would be provided business.

RECYCLING — Companies that process recyclable metals, paper, textiles and glass would be allowed a tax credit.

BOYCOTT — Companies that cooperate with the Arab boycott of Israel and of American Jewish businessmen would be denied lucrative tax benefits.

BRIBES — A business transaction involving bribery of a foreign official would be denied tax benefits.

MOCK KISS CONCERT — A Mock Kiss Concert will be given by Dan McCain, Tom McCain, Rob Smith, and Alan Spellacy on the stage at the Town Hall following the Grand Parade at the Tarlton Firemen's Fun Festival June 5.

The Red And Black

Red, Black Staff Members

Also Produce Tiger Tracks

This year's Red and Black staff consisted of 14 members. There have been 25 Red and Black pages, which appeared in The Circleville Herald on Friday nights this school year. The staff also produced three Tiger Tracks, CHS' school newspaper.

"Being on the Red and Black staff has helped me meet a lot of new people, and I have enjoyed it very much," commented two-year staff member Marsha Denney. Her future plans are to travel and work. Marsha enjoys bike riding, camping, and swimming. She is also active in SOS.

Susan Simison, two-year staff member, feels Red and Black has helped her talk to people and meet the public. Her likes include animals, bowling, and spending time with Mark. Susan has also been involved in Tigerettes and served as captain this year.

Senior Patty Ford, a one-year member of the staff, has done interviews, taken pictures, written stories, and typed. She has also been active in Curtain Callers, Student Council, English Merit Society and National Honor Society. Patty plans to attend Ohio Wesleyan and major in education of the mentally retarded.

Gail Morrison plans to become an airline stewardess. She has been a member of the Red and Black for one year and feels it has been a good experience. Gail's likes include horseback riding and traveling.

"It's been a lot of fun working on the staff. It gives you the opportunity to meet a lot of different people," was senior Susan Allison's comment. Her work on the staff consisted of interviews, writing stories, typing, and proofreading. Susan plans to be married and to work. She has been a staff member for one year.

One-year staff member Leslie Ried feels Red and Black has helped her meet people in school and also learn techniques of journalism. She enjoys drawing, painting, and cooking. She has been active in AFS, Student Council, Curtain Callers, and annual staff, and has served as a class officer. Leslie plans to attend Miami University and study art.

"I feel Red and Black has helped me to express myself better, and it's been a lot of fun," was one-year senior staff member Barbara Boyer's comment. Barbara's jobs consisted of interviewing, typing, writing stories, and proofreading. She has also been active in SOS, EMS, NHS, Girl's Ensemble, and choir. Her likes are Kevin, doing nothing, and swimming. She plans to attend Ohio University, Lancaster, and major in business.

One-year staff member, Lisa Leahy has worked on editorials and interviews. She has also been involved in Student Council, NHS, EMS, and girls' track, basketball, and volleyball. She was president of the Senior Class. Lisa plans to study abroad as an exchange student and then go to college. "It's one of the best classes I've taken in high school because I believe experience is the best teacher. We've had plenty," commented Lisa.

One-year staff member Dianne Green said she has enjoyed Red and Black, and it has helped her relate to people. She is also involved in SOS, serving as president, and EMS. Dianne's likes are working at Famous Recipe, swimming, and working with children. She plans on going to Ohio University, Lancaster, to major in

MEET THE STAFF — Fourteen students, better known as the Red and Black Staff, have not only dedicated their efforts to producing 25 editions of Red and Black in the Herald this past year, they have also produced three editions of Tiger Tracks, the school newspaper. Red and Black students on the bottom row are Susan Simison, Debbie Downey, Gail Morrison, Sandy Angles and Dianne Green; second row, Patty Ford, Lisa Leahy, Barb Boyer and Marsha Denney; top row, Leslie Ried, Jodi Linn and Susan Allison.

Sandy Angles, senior, has also been on the staff for one year. Her work this year consisted of typing and writing. Sandy said she met a lot of new people and has really enjoyed working with the other staff members. Her likes are Greg, tennis, sunny days, and friendly people. Sandy plans to be married.

Jodi Linn feels Red and Black has helped her by informing her about the press and media. She enjoys classical music, horseback riding, and tennis. Jodi is also involved in EMS, NHS, band, stage band, choir, and girls' ensemble. She plans to be married soon and go to school in England. A senior, she has been on the staff for one year.

"It has helped me a lot because it's what I plan to study," commented senior Debbie Downey. Debbie is a one-year Red and Black staff member. She has been involved in Curtain Callers, EMS, and Student Council and has served as a class officer. She plans to go to Ohio University and major in journalism.

Senior Bill Ancira, one-year member of the staff and new to the school system this year, felt that his work on Red and Black helped him become more familiar with the school and its students. He is also involved in band and stage band. His likes are playing the piano and writing. Bill plans to major in music composition at Bowling Green.

The one junior on the Red and Black staff is Kelly Steele, who says she enjoys writing. Kelly's likes are tennis, swimming, riding bikes, and writing letters. She is also active in Student Council, Student Relations, tennis team, track stat, and EMS. She is the editor of the 1977 Circle. Kelly will be a member of the Red and Black staff next year.

Senior Jane Ayers and junior Arthur Whitfield helped throughout the year with photography. Doug Baker was also a staff member before he moved.

"This has been a good Red and black staff — a lot of talent, a lot of cooperation. They've worked very hard, and I appreciate all the time they've put in," commented Mrs. Lynn Kraus, advisor.

Tricycle Relays Exciting

By KELLY STEELE

The 1975-76 CHS Tricycle Relays were held May 18 in the side parking lot of the school. The event was sponsored by the CHS Student Council with Greg Lundberg presiding over the races as projects chairman.

Each relay, consisting of four persons, was sponsored by a class, club, or group, such as a homeroom. Two heats were run; one during the early lunch period and one during late with time finals deciding the winner. The top three teams received trophies.

The results were first place: Dave Cook, Keith Connel, Joe Leahy, Larry Norporth with a time of 53.8, sponsored by the Spanish II class; second place: Larry Carter, Art Davis, Kenny Davis, Mike McCabe with a time of 1:09, sponsored by the Tractor Club; third place: Brent Mancini, Dan Marshall, Tom Marshall, Mike McCoy with a time of 1:18, sponsored by home room 111.

There were 1,019 telegraph offices in Ohio in 1887 with 1,158 employees.

Baseball Teams Honored

By DIANNE GREEN

The CHS Varsity and Reserve Baseball Teams and coaches were honored Monday night by Harold Eggleton.

Extending regular store hours to host the teams, Famous Recipe Fried Chicken, a division of Van-Orr Foods, Inc., served the men chicken dinners and soft drinks at the expense of Eggleton.

David Rose, manager of the local restaurant, commented, "We have enjoyed hosting the baseball teams, as well as the football teams and girls' basketball and volleyball teams. These athletes were treated by either Mr. or Mrs. Eggleton, and we at Famous Recipe feel the Eggletons deserve recognition for their strong interest in the athletic programs of CHS."

Don Cowgill, George Vallette, Rick Weaver, and Mike Brown were also present from Van-Orr Foods, Inc.

Eggleton feels that the baseball teams are not recognized as they should be and that they do a fine job. He stated, "CHS has a bunch of all-around great kids, and I'm sure proud to be associated with them. I'm also proud of their great sportsmanship. I love them all."

Eggleton was presented with a folder containing a picture of the teams and their statistics for the year.

Coaches Tom Cole and Ty Ankrom told of the year's events and introduced each member of the teams to the employees of Famous Recipe.

NHS Inducts 26 Members

By JODI LINN

The National Honor Society held its induction of new members May 17 at 1 p.m.

There were 26 inductees: three seniors and 23 juniors. The new members are Jeff Davies, Kathy Fischer, Linda Fisher, Patty Ford, Mike Hamilton, Randy Happeney, Linda Holveck, Cathy Klim, Jeff Lackey, Frank Merrill, Nancy Morgan, Susan North, Walter Rhodes, Mark Rustin, Tom Scherer, Jo Schlichter, Brent Smith, Dan Smith, Kelly Spence, Susan Stevenson, Ann Titus, Janet Tomlinson, Paula Tussing, Dave Uland, Martine Widmar, and Shannon Yunker.

To become a member of NHS, a student must be at least a junior and must have maintained a 3.5 scholastic average through the freshman and sophomore years. Other qualifications are leadership, service, and character. The prospective members' names are submitted to the high school faculty for review.

Bob Hively was the moderator for this year's induction. Lisa Leahy spoke on leadership; Jon Berlin addressed the new members concerning character; Gloria Alvarez discussed service; and Suzanne Herel explained the meaning of scholarship.

Lee Anderson and Julie Wilson were in charge of the reception for the new members and their parents after the ceremony.

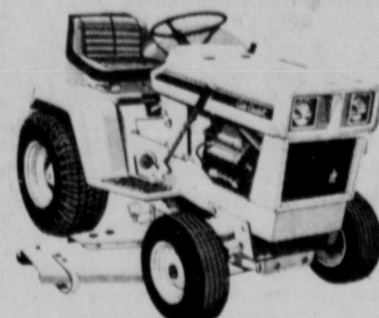

NHS advisor Wallace Higgins commented that the best students in the school are usually inducted into the honorary and that the old members of NHS were truly an outstanding group.

Ten Senior Girls Play Spring Track, Softball

By LESLIE RIED

There are ten senior girls participating in track and softball this spring.

This is the first year for girls' track. The team is coached by high school physical education teacher Miss Joy O'Brien. These six seniors have participated in track: Susan Crist, Linda Davies, Joyce Hoffman, Lisa Leahy, Paula Mosley, and Nancy Radcliff.

Sue Crist plans to study adaptive physical education (working with the handicapped and mentally retarded) next year at Ohio State University. She was active in girls' sports and was a member of the volleyball, softball, and basketball teams.

"Track was a lot of hard work, but it was fun competing with girls from other schools. It's a good way to get in shape," commented Linda Davies. She competed in the 440, the long jump, and the mile relay. Linda plans to continue in sports at Miami University, where she will be studying this fall.

The 440 relay and the 880 relay were two of the events in which Joyce Hoffman competed. This was the first time she had been a member of an interscholastic team. "It was something I was always interested in, and it gave me a chance to compete," she said.

Lisa Leahy plans to continue with her interest in athletics. The long jump, the mile, and the mile relay were three of the events in which she competed. She had been a member of the volleyball and basketball teams. This fall Lisa will be an exchange student with the American Field Service.

"I like competition," stated Paula Mosley. She competed in the 100 yard dash, the 220, and the low hurdles. This fall she will be studying at Mt. Vernon College, and she plans to be a physical education major. Last year she was a member of the basketball team. She had been a member of the track team when she attended Westfall High School.

Nancy Radcliff has been active in girls' athletics. She was a member of the volleyball, basketball, and softball teams. She ran the 100 yard dash, the 220, the mile, and the mile relay. Her plans for the future are undecided at this time.

All the track girls feel that with a little more experience, interest, and support the track team will see some improvement.

Four senior girls were members of the softball team: Cindy Dayhoff, Linda Holveck, Darla Hughes, and Rhonda Vinyard. Their coach is Ms. Karen Rafeld.

The position of short field was played by Cindy Dayhoff. She said she enjoyed softball and made a lot of friends. "Girls' athletic teams have made a lot of progress; however, the guys still dominate them," she commented. Cindy participated in basketball and volleyball and hopes to coach softball in the summer.

"I've made a lot of life-long friends participating in girls' sports," stated Linda Holveck. She has participated in basketball and volleyball. Next year she is planning to go to OSU to study architecture. She said she plans to participate in extracurricular sports.

Darla Hughes has been active in girls' athletics. She was a member of the volleyball and basketball teams. Darla plans to study at Otterbein or OSU next fall.

"I really enjoyed softball this year; we had a good team!" said Rhonda Vinyard. She played in the outfield position. Rhonda was also a member of the volleyball team. She plans to attend a technical school this fall.

CHS Language Groups Conclude Busy Year

By LISA LEAHY

The CHS language students and faculty are concluding a very active year with a language banquet, the American Field Service club activities, and a language camp.

The 1976 Language Banquet was held in the CHS cafeteria May 18. Both the beginning and advanced French and Spanish students, as well as their parents, attended. The evening began with a buffet dinner featuring French and Spanish dishes.

After the meal the advanced French classes did a parody on "The Tale of Two Cities," called "The Tale of Two Sissies" and accompanied with modern commercials in French.

Following the French performance, the advanced Spanish students presented an original comedy version of "Hansel and Gretel."

Randy Wolfe, piano accompanist, added an extra touch to the entertainment portion of the banquet.

Spanish and French teachers are Mrs. Carol Mader and Mrs. Paula Woodward.

The CHS American Field Service club is wrapping up its first year's activities with an election of officers and a picnic.

Officers chosen for the 1976-77 AFS club are Jeff Davies, president; Mark Stimpert, vice-president; Julie Kazmierczak, secretary; and Amy Schneider, treasurer.

A carry-in picnic at Hargus Lake is planned for June 6 at 5 p.m. and will be the final activity for this school year. The picnic is being held for exchange students Hans Aberg and Feyzi Serim, who will be returning to their home countries this summer, and for Mark Stimpert and Lisa Leahy, CHS exchange students leaving the US. All Circleville High School students are invited to attend the picnic.

The Modern Language Department of Ohio University is sponsoring the second annual OU Language Camp for high school students on the Athens campus June 20-26.

Mrs. Paula Woodward, CHS French teacher, is the associate-director of the French language section. Rojanne Bowers, CHS French student, is also attending the camp.

Camp activities include sports from the French, Spanish, and German-speaking countries as well as games, movies, folk dancing, hiking, swimming, cooking, informal conversation, and other activities.

A "newspaper" will be published by students in each of the languages, and "radio stations" in the dorms will provide music from Spain, France, and Germany.

On the final evening of the camp students will be entertained by demonstrations of the skills developed by the various activity groups, and awards will be given to participants.

Dianne, Denise See Command Tiger Band

DIANNE AND DENISE SEE

By PATTY FORD

Conducting the 1976-77 Tiger Band will be twin field commanders Dianne and Denise See.

Band director Paul King commented, "I'm very pleased to have such qualified girls for the position of field commander, and I'm looking forward to working with them."

"I was really excited when I was chosen because I'll feel very honored to lead the band," stated Dianne. This will be her fifth year as a majorette, and she has been in band since fifth grade. Dianne works in the office at CHS, and her interest include twirling, bike riding, swimming, and Brad.

Denise has also been in band since fifth grade. She has been a Tigerette for a year, and this will be her fourth year as a majorette. Denise is an office girl and is a member of the English Merit Society. She commented, "I couldn't believe it, but I can't wait to start." Swimming, sewing, twirling her baton, and Dave are some of Denise's likes.

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. See.

Judging tryouts were Mrs. Candy Rigo, Miss Deborah Fannin, and Ms. Kathy Walisa from Grove City. The only requirement for the position of field commander was that of being a line majorette at CHS for one year.

The girls were selected on their ability to conduct, their ability to give commands, marching, individual twirling ability, poise, personality, appearance, and character references from CHS teachers.

Lisa Leahy plans to continue with her interest in athletics. The long jump, the mile, and the mile relay were three of the events in which she competed. She had been a member of the volleyball and basketball teams. This fall Lisa will be an exchange student with the American Field Service.

"I like competition," stated Paula Mosley. She competed in the 100 yard dash, the 220, and the low hurdles. This fall she will be studying at Mt. Vernon College, and she plans to be a physical education major. Last year she was a member of the basketball team. She had been a member of the track team when she attended Westfall High School.

Nancy Radcliff has been active in girls' athletics. She was a member of the volleyball, basketball, and softball teams. She ran the 100 yard dash, the 220, the mile, and the mile relay. Her plans for the future are undecided at this time.

All the track girls feel that with a little more experience, interest, and support the track team will see some improvement.

Four senior girls were members of the softball team: Cindy Dayhoff, Linda Holveck, Darla Hughes, and Rhonda Vinyard. Their coach is Ms. Karen Rafeld.

The position of short field was played by Cindy Dayhoff. She said she enjoyed softball and made a lot of friends. "Girls' athletic teams have made a lot of progress; however, the guys still dominate them," she commented. Cindy participated in basketball and volleyball and hopes to coach softball in the summer.

"I've made a lot of life-long friends participating in girls' sports," stated Linda Holveck. She has participated in basketball and volleyball. Next year she is planning to go to OSU to study architecture. She said she plans to participate in extracurricular sports.

Darla Hughes has been active in girls' athletics. She was a member of the volleyball and basketball teams. Darla plans to study at Otterbein or OSU next fall.

"I really enjoyed softball this year; we had a good team!" said Rhonda Vinyard. She played in the outfield position. Rhonda was also a member of the volleyball team. She plans to attend a technical school this fall.

CHS Language Groups Conclude Busy Year

By LISA LEAHY
The CHS language students and faculty are concluding a very active year with a language banquet, the American Field Service club activities, and a language camp.

The 1976 Language Banquet was held in the CHS cafeteria May 18. Both the beginning and advanced French and Spanish students, as well as their parents, attended. The evening began with a buffet dinner featuring French and Spanish dishes.

After the meal the advanced French classes did a parody on "The Tale of Two Cities," called "The Tale of Two Sissies" and accompanied with modern commercials in French.

Following the French performance, the advanced Spanish students presented an original comedy version of "Hansel and Gretel."

Spanish and French teachers are Mrs. Carol Mader and Mrs. Paula Woodward.

The CHS American Field Service club is wrapping up its first year's activities with an election of officers and a picnic.

Officers chosen for the 1976-77 AFS club are Jeff Davies, president; Mark Stimpert, vice-president; Julie Kazmierczak, secretary; and Amy Schneider, treasurer.

A carry-in picnic at Hargus Lake is planned for June 6 at 5 p.m. and will be the final activity for this school year. The picnic is being held for exchange students Hans Aberg and Feyzi Serim, who will be returning to their home countries this summer, and for Mark Stimpert and Lisa Leahy, CHS exchange students leaving the U.S. All Circleville High School students are invited to attend the picnic.

The Modern Language Department of Ohio University is sponsoring the second annual OU Language Camp for high school students on the Athens campus June 20-26.

Mrs. Paula Woodward, CHS French teacher, is the associate-director of the French language section. Rojanne Bowers, CHS French student, is also attending the camp.

Camp activities include sports from the French-, Spanish-, and German-speaking countries as well as games, movies, folk dancing, hiking, swimming, cooking, informal conversation, and other activities.

A "newspaper" will be published by students in each of the languages, and "radio stations" in the dorms will provide music from Spain, France, and Germany.

On the final evening of the camp students will be entertained by demonstrations of the skills developed by the various activity groups, and awards will be given to participants.

Dianne, Denise See Command Tiger Band

DIANNE AND DENISE SEE

By PATTY FORD
Conducting the 1976-77 Tiger Band will be twin field commanders Dianne and Denise See.

Band director Paul King commented, "I'm very pleased to have such qualified girls for the position of field commander, and I'm looking forward to working with them."

"I was really excited when I was chosen because I'll feel very honored to lead the band," stated Dianne. This will be her fifth year as a majorette, and she has been in band since fifth grade. Dianne works in the office at CHS, and her interest include twirling, bike riding, swimming, and Brad.

Denise has also been in band since fifth grade. She has been a Tigerette for a year, and this will be her fourth year as a majorette. Denise is an office girl and is a member of the English Merit Society. She commented, "I couldn't believe it, but I can't wait to start." Swimming, sewing, twirling her baton, and Dave are some of Denise's likes.

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. See.

Judging tryouts were Mrs. Candy Rigo, Miss Deborah Fannin, and Ms. Kathy Walisa from Grove City. The only requirement for the position of field commander was that of being a line majorette at CHS for one year.

The girls were selected on their ability to conduct, their ability to give commands, marching, individual twirling ability, poise, personality, appearance, and character references from CHS teachers.

TURKISH FLAG — Turkish American Field Service exchange student Feyzi Serim, right, presents CHS principal Paul Sarchet with a flag of Turkey. The flag is a gift to the high school from Serim and will probably hang in the cafeteria to remind CHS students of the exchange student's stay in Circleville. Serim will be returning to Turkey in June.

Plain Old Pencils OK For Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the No. 2 pencil available at the corner drug store is good enough for the American public, it should be good enough for the massive federal bureaucracy, the government has decided.

Pens, pencils and many other items especially made for the government may become relics of the past under a new federal procurement policy.

While the new policy won't result in soldiers reporting for duty in street clothes, it may put an end to such things as pencils and pens stamped "Property of the U.S. Government."

The government's new policy will be to purchase commercial, "off-the-shelf" products, whenever feasible, instead of products designed to meet sometimes complicated federal specifications, the Office of Federal Procurement Policy announced Wednesday.

Daniel S. Wilson, head of a committee that will put the policy into effect, said it should result in significant savings in procurement costs, which are expected to total $66 billion in fiscal 1976.

Using commercially available electronic test equipment, for example, could save up to $80 million annually, the procurement office said.

In addition to reducing the cost of some merchandise, the policy should also cut the time and expense of developing government specifications, permit smaller inventories and pare government warehouse operations, it said in a report.

While government specifications are necessary in some instances to enable the government to carry out a particular function, sometimes they "merely add embellishments to commercial products" that serve little useful purpose, it added.

The government also will use commercial distribution channels, wherever possible, to distribute the goods through its bureaucracy.

However, Wilson indicated it may take years to fully implement the policy. New purchasing procedures must be devised, and such effects as the impact on small business need further study, he said.

Right now it's not even known exactly how much the government buys commercially, he admitted.

But eventually, Wilson said, an ordinary "No. 2" pencil may replace the specially branded government pencil now used in nearly every U.S. government office.

Flag Day

CHICAGO (AP) — Flag Day, June 14, was first officially observed in 1877 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the selection of the flag, according to "World Book Encyclopedia."

Congress requested all public buildings to fly the flag on June 14th of that year. Suggestions to make Flag Day an annual event followed.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) Is it really necessary to keep my GI Life Insurance Beneficiary up to date? Won't the VA automatically pay it to my wife?

(A.) It is very important to keep your GI Life Insurance Beneficiary up to date. If you at one time had your parents named as beneficiary, and then you married, this does not automatically make your wife your beneficiary. The money would go to your parents at the time of your death, or to your estate, if parents are deceased. And, suppose you were married once, divorced, and remarried. If you had named your first wife, and failed to name your second wife as beneficiary, the money would go to the first wife at the time of your death. It is most important to keep beneficiaries up to date on all insurance policies.

(Q.) I can't find my Discharge from World War II. What can be done to secure another?

(A.) It is fairly simple to secure another. An application must be made, of course, but we can get it. It is advisable to always be certain you know where your discharge papers; if a veteran of World War I or II, or your DD 214, Report of Separation, if in service after World War II; are. Maybe you won't have a need for them, but, after your death your wife and children will, so be certain you know where this very important piece of paper is at all times.

(Q.) I am a Vietnam Veteran. I did not complete High School. If I use my GI education benefits for High School, I won't have enough eligibility time left to go to college, what can I do about this?

(A.) First of all, when you use your GI Education benefits to complete High School it does not count against your eligibility time. You will still have your full eligibility for College.

(Q.) I am a World War II veteran. I have never converted my GI Insurance. Is it too late now?

(A.) It is not too late, but it is very, very expensive. I would suggest that you, your wife and I sit down and discuss this matter very carefully. There are several alternative plans we should discuss with regards to converting your Government Life Insurance.

(Q.) I am 72 years old. Am I eligible for Total Non Service Connected Pension?

(A.) Assuming that you served during a War time, you are, according to VA regulations considered Totally and Permanently disabled because of age. Now, you have only one other requirement to meet. Income . . . If your income is below certain levels, depending on whether you are single or have a wife, you would be eligible for Total Non Service Connected Pension.

Hayes Gives President Grid Tickets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State Football Coach Woody Hayes followed up his invitation to Betty Ford by personally presenting President Ford on Wednesday with two tickets to next November's Ohio State-Michigan game.

Ford captained the 1934 Michigan team that lost to the Buckeyes 34-0, a fact emphasized by Hayes after he made reference to consecutive Michigan victories the preceding two years.

"Now next November, early in November, we're all for you," Hayes told Ford on the Statehouse steps. "But at the end of the season we want you to come back for that last game of the season, and when you come for that one you're on your own."

Hayes then handed Ford the tickets and an autographed football.

"We enjoyed 1932," Ford said of his playing days, "and it was a long train ride back to Ann Arbor in 1934."

"I'm delighted to get the endorsement of Woody's help and assistance here in Ohio," the President added.

Ground Bones Said Already In Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some consumers probably have been getting finely ground bits of bones in their hot dogs for more than a year and haven't even realized it, Agriculture Department officials say.

The practice involves the use of machines which grind up neck bones, ribs and other hard-to-scrape bones from cattle and hog carcasses cut up by food processors. Under pressure, the mixture is forced through sieves which separate most of the bone from the squashed meat.

But finely ground bits of bone remain in the salvaged meat, which then is used to make hot dogs, pork sausage, canned beef stew, frozen pizzas and other products. Department experts say the bone bits cannot be detected when the food is eaten.

Federal permission to use mechanical de-boners nearly 18 months ago was made known Wednesday at the first of several Agriculture Department briefings to inform consumers about proposed rules that would officially approve mechanical de-boners. Those devices been used since late 1974 under informal department approval.

Officials said that food processors were notified then that they could use the machines. The notices were in the form of "administrative bulletins" sent to federal meat inspectors and food processors. A spokesman said there was no public announcement at the time.

But the spokesman added that "relatively few" processors have the new deboners and that most companies continue to use hand deboning.

Department officials say bits of bone might provide consumers with needed calcium in their diets. Up to one per cent calcium is allowed in mechanically de-boned meat. But since bone is not all calcium, considerably more than one per cent bone might be allowed.

According to the department, nearly one billion pounds of additional meat could be salvaged annually or nearly five pounds per American. Further sessions will be held in Sacramento, Calif., June 11; New York, June 23; and Chicago, July 8.

Leslie Ried Wins Senior Art Award

LESLIE RIED

By PATTY FORD

Recently selected as Outstanding Senior Art Student of CHS was Leslie Ried, senior. She was chosen by the Pickaway County Art League based on her overall ability and attitude.

"I really enjoy the field of art and would like to make a career of it," commented Leslie, who has had three years of art at CHS and plans on furthering her talents at Miami University. She said, "I was really honored to receive this award."

Leslie's hobbies include drawing and painting, swimming, and eating cookies. During her senior year she has been a track star, a member of EMS, annual staff, Red and Black staff, AFS, Curtain Callers, and Student Council. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ried.

"I think she's a very serious art student who's conscientious about her work and who always gives her most," commented Mrs. Liz Vansickle, CHS art instructor.

All the way, grads-- and we really think you're great. Your talents, energy and enthusiasm can help the community grow and prosper. Good luck!

ROTARY GUEST — Bob McKelvey, right, introduced George Hamrick as Thursday's guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting. Hamrick showed slides and talked of the Farm Heritage Days that were held on the Bill Green and Hammond Brothers farms last fall. Another program on heritage is being planned June 5 and 6 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Ned Harden told the club of the Rotary Ann outing to be held at his farm near Tarlton on June 10. A pit barbeque will be directed by Hamrick with fishing and many other activities planned. Bill Stout announced the next Bloodmobile visit will be June 10 and requested all members to give blood.

McDowell School News

A recent Bicentennial flag identification contest was sponsored by the resource center. Students had to research the flags, identify them and give a brief history of each one.

Many students participated in the project and the winners were Brad Arnold, first place; Tammie Wooten and Richard Miller. These students will receive their awards at the assembly.

McDowell School also recently competed in the Mid-State track meet. With ten teams competing in the junior high meet, McDowell placed third with 59 points.

Following are the winners: 110 hurdles, Tim Woods, fifth place; 100 yard dash, Larry Smith, first place; 440 relay, Sam Pine, John McElhinney, Brett Green, Stuart Baum, second place; 120 hurdles, Tim Woods, second place; 880 relay, Sam Pine, John McElhinney, Susan DeLong, Stuart Baum, third place;

Shot-put, Larry Smith, first place; pole vault, Brett Green, third place and Doug Hemming, sixth place; long jump, Larry Smith second place.

Other outstanding performances were made by Susan DeLong, 100 yard dash in 12.0, undefeated against the girls; Diane Wilamowski, 440 in 64.0, undefeated in both the 440 and 110 hurdles. Diane and Susan are the second and third girls to letter on the track team at McDowell.

The Super-Stars intramural competition is nearing completion. Coaches Bill Frost and Christy Owens report the following results: chin-up contest, Gene Lowe and Carrie Stump; softball throw, Frank Tate and Lisa Rife; rope climbing, Larry Smith and Lisa Russell; fowl shots, Jay Thomas and Brenda Bell; Frisbie throw, Mike Yaple and Larry Smith tied and Carla Toops and Parry Mueller tied; shoot to moon, Benjie Bingham and Susan DeLong.

Overall leaders in points were Gene Lowe, 23; Larry Smith, 22; Susan DeLong, 23; and Brenda Bell, 20½.

Many boys have signed up for the Logan Elm pony league. The team competes in the tri-county league with 20 boys eligible for membership on each team. Gary Francis, Rick Vanover and Mark Justus, all Logan Elm graduates, will coach the team.

Jim Lytle, industrial arts instructor, has completed his assembly line production unit with his classes and his students have their foos ball boards for enjoyment and competition.

Eighth grade bandmen have tried out for places in the high school band and will be practicing with the band during the summer. The band will perform at the Adelphi Festival, Tarlton Fun Days and the Memorial Parade in Circleville.

May the future bring much success and happiness.

Jumblatt's Sister Slain In Lebanon; Outbreak Follows

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Thirty-five persons were kidnaped, and unconfirmed reports said 11 Moslems were executed in Beirut today following the assassination of leftist Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt's sister.

Heavy fighting was reported in northern Lebanon near the Syrian border, around the Christian hill town of Andket, between Christian and Moslem armored troops of the disintegrated Lebanese army. There was sporadic shelling into Christian and Moslem quarters of Beirut, and a police spokesman said at least 48 persons were reported killed and 96 wounded on all fronts during the night.

A band of gunmen burst into the 55-year-old woman's apartment Thursday, killed her and wounded her two daughters.

The daughters, Noha, 27, and Samar, 18, were reported in critical condition. A report Thursday from Jumblatt's office said Noha was dead, but the hospital said she was alive.

Mrs. al-Atrash's apartment was in an area controlled by the right-wing

Christian Phalange party, but Phalangist leaders denied that the killers were from their militia.

Two days earlier a moderate Christian political leader, Raymond Edde, was wounded in an assassination attempt in another Phalangist area. The independent newspaper An Nahar commented today: "There seems to be a group within Lebanon which is determined to blow up any peaceful settlement whenever it appears within reach."

The killing postponed for the second time a meeting between Jumblatt and Sarkis to discuss the Christian president-elect's effort to arrange an armistice and a roundtable political conference of the leaders of all the warring factions.

A spokesman said Jumblatt would be unable to meet Sarkis for several days because he would be busy with his sister's funeral at the family home in Mokhtara, in the central Lebanese mountains.

Beirut Radio broadcast an appeal from the leftist leader to his followers for calm.

"Our brothers and colleagues must abide by the moral values we cherish even though others may not," he said. "My sister is a martyr to honor and confidence in others and belief in the possibility of coexistence in Lebanon."

ROTARY GUEST — Bob McKelvey, right, introduced George Hamrick as Thursday's guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting. Hamrick showed slides and talked of the Farm Heritage Days that were held on the Bill Green and Hammond Brothers farms last fall. Another program on heritage is being planned June 5 and 6 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Ned Harden told the club of the Rotary Ann outing to be held at his farm near Tarlton on June 10. A pit barbecue will be directed by Hamrick with fishing and many other activities planned. Bill Stout announced the next Bloodmobile visit will be June 10 and requested all members to give blood.

Jumblatt's Sister Slain In Lebanon; Outbreak Follows

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Thirty-five persons were kidnaped, and unconfirmed reports said 11 Moslems were executed in Beirut today following the assassination of leftist Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt's sister.

Heavy fighting was reported in northern Lebanon near the Syrian border, around the Christian hill town of Andket, between Christian and Moslem armed troops of the disintegrated Lebanese army. There was sporadic shelling into Christian and Moslem quarters of Beirut, and a police spokesman said at least 48 persons were reported killed and 96 wounded on all fronts during the night.

Right-wing leaders charged that the murder of Jumblatt's sister, Linda al-Atrash, was part of a plan to undermine President-elect Elias Sarkis' efforts to launch peace talks between Lebanon's warring Christians and Moslems.

A band of gunmen burst into the 55-year-old woman's apartment Thursday, killed her and wounded her two daughters.

The daughters, Noha, 27, and Samar, 18, were reported in critical condition. A report Thursday from Jumblatt's office said Noha was dead, but the hospital said she was alive.

Mrs. al-Atrash's apartment was in an area controlled by the right-wing

McDowell School News

A special awards assembly will be held June 3 at the McDowell Exchange School auditorium. Attendance and academic achievements, honor roll and music awards will be presented at the assembly. Teachers may choose to give any special recognition during this last gathering of the year.

A recent Bicentennial flag identification contest was sponsored by the resource center. Students had to research the flags, identify them and give a brief history of each one.

Many students participated in the project and the winners were Brad Arnold, first place; Tammie Wooten and Richard Miller. These students will receive their awards at the assembly.

McDowell School also recently competed in the Mid-State track meet. With ten teams competing in the junior high meet, McDowell placed third with 59 points.

Following are the winners: 110 hurdles, Tim Woods, fifth place; 100 yard dash, Larry Smith, first place; 440 relay, Sam Pine, John McElhinney, Brett Green, Stuart Baum, second place; 120 hurdles, Tim Woods, second place; 880 relay, Sam Pine, John McElhinney, Susan DeLong, Stuart Baum, third place;

Shot-put, Larry Smith, first place; pole vault, Brett Green, third place and Doug Hemming, sixth place; long jump, Larry Smith second place.

Other outstanding performances were made by Susan DeLong, 100 yard dash in 12.0, undefeated against the girls; Diane Wilamowski, 440 in 64.0, undefeated in both the 440 and 110 hurdles. Diane and Susan are the second and third girls to letter on the track team at McDowell.

The Super-Stars intramural competition is nearing completion. Coaches Bill Frost and Christy Owens report the following results: chin-up contest, Gene Lowe and Carrie Stump; softball throw, Frank Tate and Lisa Rife; rope climbing, Larry Smith and Lisa Russell; fowl shots, Jay Thomas and Brenda Bell; Frisbie throw, Mike Yaple and Larry Smith tied and Carla Toops and Parry Mueller tied; shoot to moon, Benjie Bingham and Susan DeLong.

Overall leaders in points were Gene Lowe, 23; Larry Smith, 22; Susan DeLong, 23; and Brenda Bell, 20½.

Many boys have signed up for the Logan Elm pony league. The team competes in the tri-county league with 20 boys eligible for membership on each team. Gary Francis, Rick Vanover and Mark Justus, all Logan Elm graduates, will coach the team.

Jim Lytle, industrial arts instructor, has completed his assembly line production unit with his classes and his students have their fobs ball boards for enjoyment and competition.

Eighth grade bandmen have tried out for places in the high school band and will be practicing with the band during the summer. The band will perform at the Adelphi Festival, Tarlton Fun Days and the Memorial Parade in Circleville.

May the future bring much success and happiness.

Hays Back Home To Prepare Defense

BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, back home in the settling quietness of his Ohio farm, has been consulting attorneys to prepare a defense against Justice Department and House Ethics Committee investigations of allegations that he put bosomy Elizabeth Ray on the congressional payroll as his mistress.

The 65-year-old Democratic chairman of the House Administration Committee said he stands by a statement issued earlier by his press secretary, Carol Clawson, that he has no intention of resigning and "will stand and face the facts that will vindicate him."

Hays and his bride of six weeks, Pat, arrived in these picturesque eastern Ohio farmlands late Thursday after a six-hour drive from Washington.

He declined to talk to waiting newsmen and went immediately inside the big red brick home.

His 21-year-old daughter, Geeta, and her husband Paul Steiner, were awaiting him.

Hays scheduled a campaign appearance today near Steubenville, the largest city in his eight-county congressional district, and the home town of two of his election opponents.

As Hays was preparing to leave Washington Thursday, Rep. Romano L. Mazzoli, D-Ky., told the House that Hays should resign to help restore its prestige.

Hays was not in the chamber at the time.

Mrs. Clawson said Hays "has been meeting attorneys, putting together all relevant information concerning allegations in the Washington Post. The information will be presented to the proper forum at the proper time."

Mrs. Clawson did not elaborate but Justice Department sources in Washington say a federal grand jury has begun hearing testimony about the 33-year-old Miss Ray's position with the Hays' committee.

Sources said the grand jury was asked to consider whether Hays' relationship with Miss Ray might have involved violations of federal laws covering conspiracies to defraud the government or to convert tax funds to personal use.

It was also learned that the House Ethics Committee will meet next week to schedule hearings into the allegations.

Mrs. Clawson said Hays declined to talk to newsmen at his farm home on advice of his legal counsel. She said "he has never been one to shirk talking to the press."

Mrs. Clawson accompanied Hays here.

"Mr. Hays is in good spirits," she said. "His family is standing by him. Based on my knowledge, it's my opinion he has no intention to resign."

Ohio Memorial Forest At Mohican State Park

TYPISTS — Logan Elm High School senior girls who have devoted their free time this year to typing the names, rank and home county of Ohio's Vietnam War dead for the Memorial Shrine are: Joyce Pine, kneeling; standing from the left, Tonia Rutter, Rose Hunter and Brenda Webb. They are students of Mrs. Amber Bigam.

MEMORIAL SHRINE — The Ohio Memorial Forest and Shrine, Loudonville, is sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Ray Davis of Circleville was instrumental in having the memorial to Ohio's War Dead established.

The Ohio Memorial Forest, established as a part of Mohican State Forest near Loudonville contains 3500 acres. Through the efforts of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs the land was acquired and legislation was passed in the General Assembly to provide for all time maintenance, development and planting of a living memorial to the Ohioans who lost their lives while fighting in World War II.

Later the memorial was extended to the dead of the Korean Conflict and the Viet Nam War. The Shrine, located near a 200 acre tract which has been preserved as a nature sanctuary, is constructed of native stone. It has a huge stone table in the center of the interior and a beautiful stained glass reproduction of the Seal of Ohio on the wall.

Recently a large glass case has been added to hold the great books listing the names of the Ohioans who died fighting in World War II, Korea and Viet Nam. Formerly, these books were placed on the table so that visitors could leaf through them to find the names of family members or friends. Now, however, the books have had to be removed because of vandalism. On several occasions the books were even removed from the Shrine.

Once, one of the books was recovered in a school yard in a Columbus suburb. During the past two years, the clubwomen have raised funds to refurbish the Shrine and make extensive repairs to the building which has also been vandalized.

The Ohio Memorial Forest and Shrine were dedicated April 24, 1947 and formally presented to the State. Among the speakers were Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King and then Major General Curtis E. LeMay. Mrs. C.J. Goldthorpe, president of OFWC at that time had devoted much time and energy to the project. Mrs. Ray W. Davis, of Circleville, was another clubwoman whose effort on behalf of the Forest was particularly notable. Mrs. Davis appeared at numerous hearings and worked tirelessly to move the legislation, establishing Memorial Forest, through the Ohio General Assembly.

For the past few months four senior girls in business classes at Logan Elm High School under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Amber Bigam, have been devoting their free time to typing names, rank and home county from the book of the Viet Nam war dead. This list will be placed in a loose leaf note book at the Shrine for the use of visitors when the original book is put in the locked case to protect it from vandalism. These books have the only complete listing available of Ohio dead from the three conflicts.

The Big Lie About The U.S.—And How It Grew And Grew

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared in the April 28 issue of The Toronto Star. It was read by W. P. Yamarick, 356 Markley Road, who brought the article to us. We feel it is worthy of our readers' attention.

By ROBERT NIELSEN
Toronto Star Staff Writer

It's a pity the Guinness Book of World Records doesn't deal in political superlatives. Then it could note the most successful — and damnable — Big Lie since Adolf Hitler and Joseph Goebbels were in the mendacity business.

To wit, that the United States of America is the prime villain in world affairs.

How did this whopper come to be widely believed about the nation which, 30 years ago, was almost universally regarded as a benefactor to humanity?

The first part of the answer is easy. As the powerhouse not only of capitalism but also of democracy, the United States had to be discredited if possible by the Soviet Union. With a party monopoly of information and propaganda in their own vast land and in their East European satellites, the Soviets had the means to get the job done there.

For decades they have fed their people a daily diet of lies and distortions picturing the U.S. as a ruthless imperialist abroad and a cruel oppressor of "the workers" and racial minorities at home.

China drummed into its people's heads the same message of American iniquity, moderated slightly in recent years as fear of the Soviet colossus pushed Peking toward an alliance of convenience with the U.S.

In the Communist countries alone, nearly one-third of the world's population has been getting anti-American propaganda with its morning tea or coffee for 25 years or longer.

Anti-Americanism in the so-called Third World nations, neither Communist or aligned with the West, is more complex.

The U.S. has certainly earned, though not always for dishonorable reasons, some animosity in the Third World:

—Its position as the lone ally of Israel could only arouse suspicion and enmity among the Arabs.

—Its policy in southern Africa has been ambiguous, with a tilt during recent years in favor of the status quo of white minority rule.

—Its diplomatic leaning toward Pakistan in the Indo-Pakistan war has not been forgiven by India; the affront easily overcame any Indian gratitude for many billions of dollars' worth of U.S. economic aid.

—Its covert actions toward the overthrow of the Allende government in Chile betrayed democratic principles.

—And of course, Viet Nam — although it's worth noting that several Asian countries were glad to have the Americans holding the line against Communist expansion in Southeast Asia, and are anxious now.

But the U.S. has not, by its own actions, come close to earning the amount of abuse heaped on it in the Third World. It has done many things that should have earned goodwill there — such as, being nearly always first with the most emergency relief in time of famine, flood or earthquake.

Part of the explanation is simply envy and resentment of the poor and weak toward the rich and powerful. Another part is the trend toward authoritarian rule in the new nations. A lot of many dictatorships and one-party regimes would be undermined if their people could make true comparisons with the biggest democracy; so it profits their rules to slander the U.S.

Now we come to the strangest and saddest part of the story, which is how free and democratic people have fed the Big Lie and thereby helped discredit the main champion of freedom.

With few exceptions, the Western news media have done this quite innocently, by going about their business the way they know best — covering the news as it happens and where it's available. And about 99 per cent of it is available only in open societies like the United States. Totalitarian states like the Soviet Union and China simply deny access to everything they don't want reported.

When this unbalanced access is combined with the critical, negative tradition of Western journalism — things that are going well usually aren't news — the result is an immense, continuous distortion of the world picture.

Russia's strangling of a whole country, Czechoslovakia, was a nine-day wonder in the media; America's maladroitness and callously executed attempt to keep half of Viet Nam from falling to Communists was so vividly and copiously reported that it provoked 10 years of global outrage, as well as a political convulsion within the U.S.

We owe most of our knowledge of the sins and errors of the U.S., from My Lai to Watergate, to American reporters. The Soviet press waits until a Solzhenitsyn tells us of the oceans of blood and tears shed in the Gulag Archipelago, and then vilifies him. By the time it's told, the story is "old," and its continuation hard to report; so the Western media give it only passing attention.

The media distort the picture innocently, but we also do it carelessly. The point is not that the U.S. or any other democratic state should be spared close scrutiny and criticism; that's how we stay free. But we could do more by way of commentary to redress the balance; and we could remind the public more often that the picture is necessarily one-sided, because of the disparity in access to news.

Four years ago, on the day after Angela Davis was cleared of murder in California, I tuned by radio in to the daily dialogue of two enormously talented journalists and authors.

I expected to hear a kind word for the justice system of a country where a black revolutionary, a Moscow-line Communist at that, could be acquitted by a mostly white jury.

Not a bit of it. They were seething with outrage (Chuck only a little less than Pierre) over her having been tried at all. The charges were trumped up; it was persecution of a dissenter; and so on.

Neither mentioned that Davis had in fact bought the guns used to murder a judge and three other persons — evidence that would be considered ground for suspicion in most jurisdictions. Neither mentioned the probability that if a counterpart case occurred in her spiritual homeland, the Soviet Union, the accused would have been shot without trial or after a secret trial in which defense counsel would have taken the accusation as proof of guilt and tried merely for commutation of the death sentence.

In this sorry business of free people tarring Uncle Sam, I've given first place to the media only because we deserve it. But the contributions of academics and teachers shouldn't be overlooked.

The academics gave us the revisionist historians who have selected and rearranged the events of the early postwar period to make the preposterous case that the United States launched the Cold War without serious provocation from the Soviet side. And many teachers of current events and history somehow failed to get it across to high school graduates that there's a fundamental difference, in the matter of citizens' rights and liberties, between countries like the Soviet Union and China on the one hand and countries like Canada and the U.S. on the other.

Academics generally don't admire the Soviet Union any more, as many tended to do in the 1930s and 1940s; China is the chic totalitarian state just now. A popular cop-out for liberal-leftists is to find the U.S. and the Soviets equally reprehensible in their international conduct, and to pronounce a plague on both their houses.

They equate a Chile on the American side with 10 countries permanently subjugated by the Soviet Union.

This technique of the false equation is convenient. It relieves one of the responsibility of choosing sides between imperfect opponents, even where the differences in terms of human decency and liberty are immense.

Adapting the late John L. Lewis, I say it ill behooves those who shelter in freedom's house and dine at freedom's table to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both the chief defender of freedom and its deadliest enemy.

The United States, notwithstanding grievous errors and faults and occasional villainies, is committed by its whole history to fundamental human rights. The Soviet Union, on its record, is inexorably bent on the destruction of those rights.

They are the present protagonists in the endless struggle between liberty and tyranny. After a long stalemate, tyranny is clearly gaining ground as the West loses unity and the will to resist. The United States, which in 1961 applauded John F. Kennedy's pledge that it would "pay any price, bear any burden for the survival and success of liberty" is now retreating toward a new isolationism. One reason is the thanklessness of its task as leader of the democracies.

For democrats of every persuasion — liberal, Socialist or conservative — anti-Americanism has become a costly indulgence.

Soviet Grain Buys Depend On Harvest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whether the Soviet Union buys more U.S. wheat and corn than called for in a long-term agreement signed last fall will depend largely on how its 1976 crops develop in the next few months, according to a top Agriculture Department official.

The agreement permits Russia to buy six million to eight million metric tons of wheat and corn annually for five years, beginning with deliveries on Oct. 1. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

But the Soviets can have more than eight million tons if they want and if U.S. supplies are at least 225 million tons. However, if more is wanted, the Russians will have to talk further with U.S. officials, according to the pact. Assistant Secretary Richard E. Bell, the chief U.S. negotiator of the agreement, told newsmen Wednesday that he has informed the Russians as if there will be an ample grain, advising them they would be welcome to order more than eight million tons.

However, Bell said the Russians have not said how much they plan to take and that more time will be needed to assess their 1976 crops and requirements through the coming season.

Bell said that based on current USDA "projections" it appears the U.S. grain supply in 1976-77 will be about 286 million tons, far more than the 225 million in the agreement as a limiting factor for additional sales to Russia.

The department has predicted for some time that if 1976 crops continue to develop as they have so far, farmers will harvest a near record wheat crop this summer and a record corn crop in the fall. Thus, the experts say, there will be plenty of grain for sale to Russia and other countries without driving up consumer food prices.

Bell's comments followed a two-day meeting with a delegation of Soviet trade officials. The meeting was held under the five-year agreement, which specified that the two countries have semiannual "consultations" on mutual grain matters.

The Big Lie About The U.S.—And How It Grew And Grew

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared in the April 28 issue of The Toronto Star. It was read by W. P. Yamarick, 356 Markley Road, who brought the article to us. We feel it is worthy of our readers' attention.

By ROBERT NIELSEN
Toronto Star Staff Writer

It's a pity the Guinness Book of World Records doesn't deal in political superlatives. Then it could note the most successful — and damnable — Big Lie since Adolf Hitler and Joseph Goebbels were in the mendacity business.

To wit, that the United States of America is the prime villain in world affairs.

How did this whopper come to be widely believed about the nation which, 30 years ago, was almost universally regarded as a benefactor to humanity?

The first part of the answer is easy. As the powerhouse not only of capitalism but also of democracy, the United States had to be discredited if possible by the Soviet Union. With a party monopoly of information and propaganda in their own vast land and in their East European satellites, the Soviets had the means to get the job done there.

For decades they have fed their people a daily diet of lies and distortions picturing the U.S. as a ruthless imperialist abroad and a cruel oppressor of "the workers" and racial minorities at home.

China drummed into its people's heads the same message of American iniquity, moderated slightly in recent years as fear of the Soviet colossus pushed Peking toward an alliance of convenience with the U.S.

In the Communist countries alone, nearly one-third of the world's population has been getting anti-American propaganda with its morning tea or coffee for 25 years or longer.

Anti-Americanism in the so-called Third World nations, neither Communist or aligned with the West, is more complex.

The U.S. has certainly earned, though not always for dishonorable reasons, some animosity in the Third World:

—Its position as the lone ally of Israel could only arouse suspicion and enmity among the Arabs.

—Its policy in southern Africa has been ambiguous, with a tilt during recent years in favor of the status quo of white minority rule.

—Its diplomatic leaning toward Pakistan in the Indo-Pakistan war has not been forgiven by India; the affront easily overcame any Indian gratitude for many billions of dollars' worth of U.S. economic aid.

—Its covert actions toward the overthrow of the Allende government in Chile betrayed democratic principles.

—And of course, Viet Nam — although it's worth noting that several Asian countries were glad to have the Americans holding the line against Communist expansion in Southeast Asia, and are anxious now.

But the U.S. has not, by its own actions, come close to earning the amount of abuse heaped on it in the Third World. It has done many things that should have earned goodwill there — such as, being nearly always first with the most emergency relief in time of famine, flood or earthquake.

Part of the explanation is simply envy and resentment of the poor and weak toward the rich and powerful. Another part is the trend toward authoritarian rule in the new nations. A lot of many dictatorships and one-party regimes would be undermined if their people could make true comparisons with the biggest democracy; so it profits their rules to slander the U.S.

Now we come to the strangest and saddest part of the story, which is how free and democratic people have fed the Big Lie and thereby helped discredit the main champion of freedom.

With few exceptions, the Western news media have done this quite innocently, by going about their business the way they know best — covering the news as it happens and where it's available. And about 99 per cent of it is available only in open societies like the United States. Totalitarian states like the Soviet Union and China simply deny access to everything they don't want reported.

When this unbalanced access is combined with the critical, negative tradition of Western journalism — things that are going well usually aren't news — the result is an immense, continuous distortion of the world picture.

Russia's strangling of a whole country, Czechoslovakia, was a nine-day wonder in the media; America's maladroitness and callously executed attempt to keep half of Viet Nam from falling to Communists was so vividly and copiously reported that it provoked 10 years of global outrage, as well as a political convulsion within the U.S.

We owe most of our knowledge of the sins and errors of the U.S., from My Lai to Watergate, to American reporters. The Soviet press waits until a Solzhenitsyn tells us of the oceans of blood and tears shed in The Gulag Archipelago, and then vilifies him. By the time it's told, the story is "old," and its continuation hard to report; so the Western media give it only passing attention.

The media distort the picture innocently, but we also do it carelessly. The point is not that the U.S. or any other democratic state should be spared close scrutiny and criticism; that's how we stay free. But we could do more by way of commentary to redress the balance; and we could remind the public more often that the picture is necessarily one-sided, because of the disparity in access to news.

Four years ago, on the day after Angela Davis was cleared of murder in California, I tuned by radio in to the daily dialogue of two enormously talented journalists and authors.

I expected to hear a kind word for the justice system of a country where a black revolutionary, a Moscow-line Communist at that, could be acquitted by a mostly white jury.

Not a bit of it. They were seething with outrage (Chuck only a little less than Pierre) over her having been tried at all. The charges were trumped up; it was persecution of a dissenter; and so on.

Neither mentioned that Davis had in fact bought the guns used to murder a judge and three other persons — evidence that would be considered ground for suspicion in most jurisdictions. Neither mentioned the probability that if a counterpart case occurred in her spiritual homeland, the Soviet Union, the accused would have been shot without trial or after a secret trial in which defense counsel would have taken the accusation as proof of guilt and tried merely for commutation of the death sentence.

In this sorry business of free people tarring Uncle Sam, I've given first place to the media only because we deserve it. But the contributions of academics and teachers shouldn't be overlooked.

The academics gave us the revisionist historians who have selected and rearranged the events of the early postwar period to make the preposterous case that the United States launched the Cold War without serious provocation from the Soviet side. And many teachers of current events and history somehow failed to get it across to high school graduates that there's a fundamental difference, in the matter of citizens' rights and liberties, between countries like the Soviet Union and China on the one hand and countries like Canada and the U.S. on the other.

Academics generally don't admire the Soviet Union any more, as many tended to do in the 1930s and 1940s; China is the chic totalitarian state just now. A popular cop-out for liberal-leftists is to find the U.S. and the Soviets equally reprehensible in their international conduct, and to pronounce a plague on both their houses.

They equate a Chile on the American side with 10 countries permanently subjugated by the Soviet Union.

This technique of the false equation is convenient. It relieves one of the responsibility of choosing sides between imperfect opponents, even where the differences in terms of human decency and liberty are immense.

Adapting the late John L. Lewis, I say it ill behooves those who shelter in freedom's house and dine at freedom's table to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both the chief defender of freedom and its deadliest enemy.

The United States, notwithstanding grievous errors and faults and occasional villainies, is committed by its whole history to fundamental human rights. The Soviet Union, on its record, is inexorably bent on the destruction of those rights.

They are the present protagonists in the endless struggle between liberty and tyranny. After a long stalemate, tyranny is clearly gaining ground as the West loses unity and the will to resist. The United States, which in 1961 applauded John F. Kennedy's pledge that it would "pay any price, bear any burden for the survival and success of liberty" is now retreating toward a new isolationism. One reason is the thanklessness of its task as leader of the democracies.

For democrats of every persuasion — liberal, Socialist or conservative — anti-Americanism has become a costly indulgence.

Soviet Grain Buys Depend On Harvest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whether the Soviet Union buys more U.S. wheat and corn than called for in a long-term agreement signed last fall will depend largely on how its 1976 crops develop in the next few months, according to a top Agriculture Department official.

The agreement permits Russia to buy six million to eight million metric tons of wheat and corn annually for five years, beginning with deliveries on Oct. 1. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

But the Soviets can have more than eight million tons if they want and if U.S. supplies are at least 225 million tons. However, if more is wanted, the Russians will have to talk further with U.S. officials, according to the pact. Assistant Secretary Richard E. Bell, the chief U.S. negotiator of the agreement, told newsmen Wednesday that he has informed the Russians as if there will be an ample grain, advising them they would be welcome to order more than eight million tons.

However, Bell said the Russians

have not said how much they plan to take and that more time will be needed to assess their 1976 crops and requirements through the coming season.

Bell said that based on current USDA "projections" it appears the U.S. grain supply in 1976-77 will be about 286 million tons, far more than the 225 million in the agreement as a limiting factor for additional sales to Russia.

The department has predicted for some time that if 1976 crops continue to develop as they have so far, farmers will harvest a near record wheat crop this summer and a record corn crop in the fall. Thus, the experts say, there will be plenty of grain for sale to Russia and other countries without driving up consumer food prices.

Bell's comments followed a two-day meeting with a delegation of Soviet trade officials. The meeting was held under the five-year agreement, which specified that the two countries have semiannual "consultations" on mutual grain matters.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The Legislature is recessed until June 9, but committees continue to meet on several important bills.

The House-Senate conference committee on property tax relief (HB 920) has had some stormy sessions. There remain substantial and persistent differences between the House and Senate versions of HB 920.

Both chambers want a system of tax credits to replace tax millage rollback as a way to offset tax increases due to inflation. However, the House made the credits retroactive to 1971, and the Senate wanted to wait until 1978. A compromise makes them effective in 1976.

Another compromise reduces tangible personal property tax levels over a period of years to 35 per cent. This tax primarily affects businesses, and is levied on inventories, plants and equipment, and office furnishings. The 35 per cent level of market value would be on par with the uniform 35 per cent real property assessment.

Other than these two changes the committee is using the Senate version of HB 920. An important difference remains in how property taxes are to be administered. The House sought to replace the present Board of Tax Appeals (BTA) with a Court of Tax Appeals, while the Senate kept the BTA as an appeals body, but put rule making authority in a new Department of Tax Equalization.

The compromise agreements are shaky, and may fall apart. We will know this week. If that happens, it is likely the first conference committee will be dissolved and a new one formed next week.

The conference committee on the mechanics lien law (HB 2) is still meeting at the time this is written. The present mechanics lien law says you are financially liable to pay a subcontractor for supplies and work, if he is not paid by the contractor in full. HB 2 seeks to offer more protection to the consumer.

Hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee are scheduled to begin this week on the removal of Gregory Stebbins from the Ohio Industrial Commission (OIC). In an unprecedented move, Governor Rhodes asked the Senate to undertake removal proceedings because of OIC activities involving kickbacks and falsified records.

The Governor signed several bills. SB 71 requires public places to provide free toilets if they maintain pay toilets in a public restroom. SB 467 eliminates discrimination in the extension of credit based on age. HB 254 regulates homes for runaways. All go into effect July 18.

Governor Rhodes vetoed a bill giving a pay raise to certain legislative leaders. SB 22 created the positions of House Assistant Majority Floor Leader and Senate Majority Whip. These legislators plus the Senate Minority Whip were to get more than the base pay of $17,500 for legislators. The Governor cited the state's financial problems in his veto message.

Among new bills introduced are ones that exempt minors from minimum wage laws (HB 1505), make auto license plates free for totally disabled veterans (HB 1507), and allow major political party ward clubs to run bingo games (HB 1509).

RETIRING — Howard Pond, center, was recognized recently during a Westfall High School assembly. Pond, who has been teaching 30 years and has spent 27 years in the Williamsport and Westfall School systems, is retiring this year. Peacekeeping Force Extension Readied

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council meets today to extend for another six months the life of the U.N. peacekeeping force separating Israeli and Syrian troops.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim received high praise Thursday night on his return from Damascus after obtaining Syria's unconditional consent to extension of the mandate for the 1,194-man U.N. Disengagement and Observer Force.

Israel said last week it would agree to another extension if the Syrians did not try to exact any political conditions.

"It's a considerable personal victory for the secretary-general," said British Ambassador Ivor Richard.

Another diplomat said Waldheim took a "great personal risk for peace" since he is up for re-election this year, but "it paid off."

Many Western delegates expressed misgivings when Waldheim's trip was announced. Some thought Syria might pressure him for political concessions. Others said he should not commit the prestige of his office to what they regarded as basically a technical matter.

Six months ago, to get Syria's agreement to the last extension of the mandate for the U.N. force, the Security Council agreed to the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization in a debate on the Arab-Israeli situation. Israel boycotted the debate.

Waldheim reported that this time Syrian President Hafez Assad asked only for "clarifications" on the Mideast situation and "intensification of negotiations." He said Assad was "very keen to progress in the way of peace."

After Waldheim's announcement, the Israeli Foreign Ministry said Israel's "positive attitude" toward renewal of the mandate "remained valid, provided there were no additional conditions."

In a report to the Security Council recommending that it continue the life of the buffer force on the Golan Heights, Waldheim said the presence of the troops continues to be essential, not only to maintain quiet on the Israeli-Syrian front, but also to provide "an atmosphere conducive to further peace efforts."

The force has manned the buffer zone since Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger negotiated the 1974 disengagement agreement between Israel and Syria.

Silver Bridge Claims Rejected By Court

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The state Court of Claims today denied $6.4 million in claims from the 1967 collapse of the Silver Bridge.

The 58 claims for wrongful death, personal injury and property damage were filed against the state Highway Department, which owned the bridge over the Ohio River when it collapsed on Dec. 15, 1967, killing 46 persons.

"We are of the firm opinion that the collapse of the Silver Bridge on the evening of Dec. 15, 1967, could not have been anticipated or foreseen by the respondent (the Highway Department) in the exercise of reasonable care," said the 39-page opinion by the three-member court.

"The ultimate collapse was caused by a fracture of Eyebar 330 resulting from a phenomenon unknown to bridge engineers when the Silver Bridge was constructed in 1926 and unknown to bridge engineers on the date of its collapse.

"The statute which created this court authorized us to make awards in claims that the state of West Virginia and in equity and good conscience should discharge and pay. If that was our only guideline, this court, possessing the normal attributes of sympathy and compassion, would not hesitate to make awards.

"However, we have always interpreted this grant of jurisdiction to include the necessity of finding legal liability upon the state, before the test of equity and good conscience can be applied.

"We believe that in deciding claims, we must be bound by sound legal principles, and being of opinion that sound legal principles do not authorize recoveries, we hereby deny the claims arising out of the collapse of the Silver Bridge," the opinion said.

Ohio's Big Labor Hears Candidates

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio AFL-CIO convention here closed without giving its political backing to any of the presidential candidates it heard during the three-day meeting.

I. W. Abel, president of United Steelworkers of America, told observers that the AFL-CIO and the Steelworkers did not make it a policy to endorse candidates until after the convention, but listening did no harm and that's what the 1,500 delegates did.

Three of the four democratic candidates on the June 8 ballot—Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz.; Jimmy Carter and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho,—spoke to the convention while George Wallace was blackballed by Al Barkan, head of the AFL CIO's political arm, COPE.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., was a late cancellation.

Abel and other union leaders expressed regret, saying they preferred Humphrey.

"If Carter does not get it on the first ballot, I think there will be a deadlock and out of that deadlock will come a ticket involving Humphrey," Abel said.

Carter was on hand Thursday to make sure that didn't happen, and reminded delegates that he had strong labor backing when he ran for governor in Georgia in 1970.

"I know what it means to work for a living with my hands," Carter said.

"Quite a few people who make the decisions in government are rich enough and prominent enough that their families don't suffer when they make a mistake.

"The point is that there is not a deliberate plot against the working family, but there is an insensitivity. There is too much separation between the government and the people who have to depend on the right decision being made."

Church, in an emotional speech which concluded in a standing ovation for the Idaho Democrat, blamed the policy of investing capital overseas for the high unemployment rate.

"There is nothing in the preamble of the Constitution to suggest that the government was established for the maximum profit of General Motors abroad," he said.

He charged the current administration with permitting incentives with encouraging what he called "the massive hemorrhage of capital money abroad."

"All of the risks of investing abroad are not to be borne by the company but by the insurance provided by the government," Church said.

Udall, in his speech Tuesday, warned the delegates that Ohio was proving to be a critical primary since it would determine whether there would be a stampede for Carter or whether there would be an open convention.

If there is a stampede in the Ohio election, Abel wanted it known that it would not be led by labor.

"Our job is to instruct and not to tell them how to vote," said the labor leader.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Neglected Wife Has Daytime Liaisons

DEAR ABBY: I am not trying to justify my getting involved with another man, but maybe if you knew what my husband was like, you wouldn't blame me.

I have been married less than five years, and my husband stopped paying attention to me about two years ago. His whole life is sports and running with his unmarried pals. We have one preschool child.

I became so lonely and frustrated that I took up with a man I met while he was demonstrating something in a nearby shopping center (don't say where.) Anyway, this new man in my life has been coming to my home during the daytime while my husband is at work, and I've never been happier!

He's single and wants me to leave my husband for him. Abby, I'm only 25 and have my whole life before me. What should I do?

CONSIDERING A CHANGE

Thieves Take CB Radios

Citizen Band radios, owned by Circleville residents, were stolen Thursday night from their vehicles.

Glen McFarland, 408 Stella Ave., told Circleville Police that thieves entered his unlocked truck to take a Pace 2300 CB radio valued at $200.

McFarland apparently left the vehicle unlocked so employees of Eshelman's Mill could move it to the loading dock.

Thieves broke into Connie Walker's locked car, which was parked at Heck's Department Store, to take a SBE Catalina CB radio valued at $150.

Ms. Walker, 510 E. Main St., told Sheriff's Deputies that the car was parked from 11:45 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

The first use of the term "high school" in Ohio was for an institution of this type, the Elyria High School, chartered in 1830.

DEAR CONSIDERING: First try to improve your marriage through professional counseling. The new man in your life may provide some temporary excitement, but all you really know about him is that he spends his afternoons with married women while their husbands work. Is THAT the kind of man you want for a husband? Think it over.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the city of Duluth, Minn.!

Persons caught shoplifting used to be sentenced to clean the cages of the Duluth zoo. Last winter they started something new: Instead of cleaning cages, shoplifters were sentenced to 40 hours of shoveling snow outside the residences of elderly citizens and the infirm.

Now the city gets free labor by putting the law violators to work doing something useful.

DIZZY IZZY IN DULUTH

DEAR DIZZY: Great idea! And in the summer, let 'em rake leaves. (Personally I'd prefer shoveling and raking to cleaning cages in a zoo.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in a two-girl office with a woman who is very pleasant, but she talks too much. Every morning she regales me with stories about what her daughter's boyfriend said or the details concerning her husband's stop-smoking clinic. She talks endlessly about her relatives and neighbors I've never met, and it's all very boring.

I've tried to act interested, but I am bored stiff and resent being kept from my work. I work with figures, and it's not easy to concentrate when I'm interrupted by something she just thought of and has to tell me.

So, how do I get the idea across to her that she shouldn't talk so much? I'm not very good at telling people off.

NO TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO TOWN: You don't have to tell her OFF; just tell her that you feel guilty "chatting" when you're being paid to work, so to please save the conversation for before or after office hours. She'll get the message. And if she doesn't, keep repeating it until she does.

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF '76

Let us be the first to shake your hands for a job well done! You have the means to make your life, and your community's future the best ever. Good luck!

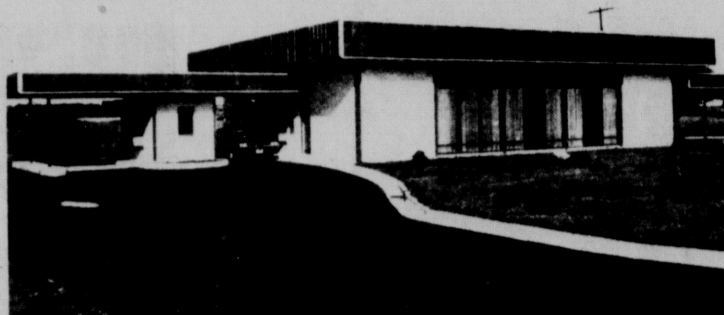

You'll be looking to set your career goals in motion, now that you have that diploma! We just want to remind you that when it comes to business opportunities, there's a host of "natural resources" right in your own home town!

Ohio's Big Labor Hears Candidates

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio AFL-CIO convention here closed without giving its political backing to any of the presidential candidates it heard during the three-day meeting.

I. W. Abel, president of United Steelworkers of America, told observers that the AFL-CIO and the Steelworkers did not make it a policy to endorse candidates until after the convention, but listening did no harm and that's what the 1,500 delegates did.

Three of the four democratic candidates on the June 8 ballot—Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz.; Jimmy Carter and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho,—spoke to the convention while George Wallace was blackballed by Al Barkan, head of the AFL CIO's political arm, COPE.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., was a late cancellation.

Abel and other union leaders expressed regret, saying they preferred Humphrey.

"If Carter does not get it on the first ballot, I think there will be a deadlock and out of that deadlock will come a ticket involving Humphrey," Abel said.

Carter was on hand Thursday to make sure that didn't happen, and reminded delegates that he had strong labor backing when he ran for governor in Georgia in 1970.

Baccalaureate services for the 1976 graduating class of Teays Valley High School will be 2 p.m. Sunday in the high school gymnasium. Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday evening.

JUDGE FRED SHOEMAKER

This year's guest speaker for the commencement will be Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred Shoemaker. Judge Shoemaker began his public service as a Columbus City Councilman in 1957. He was Columbus Municipal Court Judge 1959 through 1964 and judge of the common pleas court since Jan. 1, 1965. He is a life-long resident of Franklin County and served three years in the military service, 1943-46.

He attended Lake Forest College and Otterbein College and is a graduate of The Ohio State University Law School. He is also a graduate of the National College of State Trial Judges.

In his speeches, Judge Shoemaker advocates elimination of the Ohio Adult Parole Authority, mandatory sentencing on repeat and dangerous offenders, the elimination of grand jury and the providing of trial judges more authority to assist in guiding juries.

Guest speaker for the baccalaureate service will be the Rev. David Frazer, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church in Circleville.

Traditionally, Teays Valley High School recognizes scholarship among its students but does not designate a valedictorian and salutatorian. Honor Society graduates will wear gold cords over their commencement robes.

Students will be recognized in ten scholastic areas for having the highest point averages. They must have completed a minimum of four units to be considered for honors. Students receiving scholarships will also be recognized during the ceremonies.

The class of '76 has decided to graduate in light and dark blue. The class flower is the white rose.

The graduation of the 192 seniors marks the 14th annual commencement from Teays Valley High School. This group is 21 stronger than the graduating class last year.

Commencement guests will be welcomed by Roger Struckman, class vice president. Ron Catron, class president, will deliver the farewell address.

"Our future is not in the stars, but in ourselves," has been adopted by the class of 100 boys and 92 girls as their motto.

Following is a list of the Teays

Valley graduating seniors, their ages, parents, addresses, course of study and future plans:

Jed Allen, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen, Route 1, Amanda; general; plans to work on a farm.

Tom Allen, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Virgil Allen, Lockbourne.

Rita Ball, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ball, Route 2, Ashville; business; will work for an airline.

Dave Barr, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil M. Barr, Route 1, Amanda;

Eating Water

LOMBARD, III. (AP) — Solid food provides some of us with more water than we drink from the tap, according to a Michigan State University professor.

"We think of milk as a fluid, but it contains less water than some foods we consider solid or dry," Dr. Olaf Mickelsen recently told the International Water Quality Symposium. "Milk contains 87 per cent water. But green beans, a solid, contain 89 per cent water, and lettuce, another solid, contains 95 per cent water."

It is from foods such as these, and beverages other than water, that we get most of the two liters of fluid a day our bodies require, according to Mickelsen.

Can Can

NEW YORK (AP) — One way of measuring a country's standard of living is by counting the number of cans its people use, says Robert S. Hatfield, chairman of Continental Can Co.

Hatfield says, "Americans, with the highest standard of living in the world, use about 350 cans per capita per year. Canada is next with about 250 cans per capita per year, followed by Australia and the United Kingdom at about 200 cans."

For the first time in the history of the Logan Elm High School, Sunday's commencement ceremonies will be held out of doors. In the 15th annual commencement, 143 seniors will receive their diplomas from LE on the athletic field at 2 p.m. In case of inclement weather, the commencement will be held at 8 p.m. at the McDowell Exchange School.

The baccalaureate and commencement services will be combined again this year. Perry Griffith, football coach this year at LE, will deliver the baccalaureate speech.

Logan Elm's three valedictorians will be introduced to the public by Rob Black, president of the graduating class. The valedictory speeches will provide the commencement program. Salutatorian Keith Dumm will give the invocation.

Valedictorians are Bruce DeBruin, Barbara Bolender and Joe Disbennett.

DeBruin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl DeBruin, 22314 Bolender Pontius Road. During his high school career, he has been an active athlete as well as a high scholastic achiever. DeBruin was a member of the football and track teams, the National Honor Society and the bowling club. He also participated in both the junior and senior class plays. He plans to further his education at Ohio State University where he hopes to obtain a degree in chemical engineering.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Bolender, Route 4, has been active in the band, choir, girls' ensemble, National Honor Society, Elm Log staff, Skandha yearbook staff, Quill and Scroll Journalistic Society and Girls' Athletic Association. She serves as vice president of her senior class. Miss Bolender was also a delegate to Buckeye Girls' State. Her future plans include attending Ohio State University to study nursing.

Disbennett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Disbennett, Route 2, Laurelville. Pursuing a college prep course of study at Logan Elm, the third valedictorian was a member of the National Honor Society, band, Test Your Knowledge Team and the Skandha staff. Disbennett was Logan Elm's representative to the Rotary Club's World Affairs Institute. Upon graduation from high school, he plans to attend Oberlin College to study pre-medicine.

Logan Elm's salutatorian, Keith Dumm, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Dumm, 27605 Campbell Road. He was active in band organizations, Elm Log, National Honor Society and the bowling club. He will attend OSU this fall to study medicine.

The class of '76 has selected navy blue and ivory as class colors and the red rose as the class flower. "We will never pass this way again" has been adopted as the class motto.

Logan Elm's 76 graduating boys will wear navy gowns and the 67 girls will wear ivory.

Following is a list of the members of the class of '76, their parents, and their future plans.

Don Adams, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Adams, Route 1, Kingston; carpentry at the vocational school; will work as a carpenter.

Gene Adams, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, 5611 State Route 316; auto mechanics at the vocational school; will work as an auto mechanic.

R. Scott Allen, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Allen, 535 Commanche

Court; college prep at Logan Elm; will be attending college.

David A. Anderson, 18, son of Ralph E. Anderson, Circleville, and Mona B. Anderson, Hillard; business course; wants to be a Federal Government Grain inspector.

David L. Ash, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ash, Box 292, Laurelville; general course; will attend American Motorcycle Institute and race motorcycles.

Debbie Azbell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Azbell, Route 1, 350 Shasta Drive; business office education; wants to get a job.

Linda Barnett, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lowery, 8340 Warner-Huffer Road; business course; will attend Ohio State School of Cosmetology.

Lora Beavers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Beavers, 23770 Huber Hitler Road; business office education; wants to go into secretarial work or business school. Brock Bell, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell, 311 Monticello; college prep; will go to college.

Kitty Joyce Bialy, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bialy, 19824 Bolender Pontious Road; business course; undecided about future plans.

Commencement exercises for 230 graduates of Circleville High School will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. on the athletic field. In case of rain, the ceremonies will be held at 8 p.m. at the junior high gymnasium.

This year, there were four seniors tied for the top honors. The four valedictorians are Linda L. Davies, Suzanne Herel, Donna Milburn and Stephen Penn. Gloria Alvarez is salutatorian of the class.

Miss Davies is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davies, 331 Meadow Lane. She took college prep courses at CHS and is planning to further her education. During her high school years, she was active in Student Council, National Honor Society, English Merit Society, Girls' Athletic Association and Curtain Callers. She was also a majorette during her freshman year and a cheerleader during her sophomore year. She served three years as a class officer.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herel, 539 Garden Parkway, Miss Herel also took the college prep course and will attend college to pursue a dual major in French and mathematics education. At CHS, she was active in the Latin Club, EMS, NHS, Service Over Self Club, American Field Service, reserve in The Know Team and band.

Also planning to go on to college, Miss Milburn has just completed a very active high school career. She was a member of the band, color guard, Latin Club, EMS, NHS, annual staff, Curtain Callers and the tennis team. She is the daughter of W. Robert Milburn, 323 Meadow Lane.

Penn, the only young man in the valedictory quartet, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Penn, 503 Springhollow Road. He is planning to continue his education to study mathematics and science. During his high school years, Penn was active in the Latin Club, band, Key Club, NHS, EMS, and Student Council. He has served as vice president of his senior class. Penn was also a delegate during his junior year to Buckeye Boys' State.

The salutatorian, Miss Alvarez, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Alvarez, 960 Circle Drive. She has been a member of the In The Know Team for three years and was also active in the SOS Club, EMS, NHS, band, color guard, Tigerettes and junior class play. A member of the Scholarship Team, Miss Alvarez placed high in state competition and was named a National Merit Commended Scholar during her senior year. She was also awarded the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award. She plans to attend Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

The commencement speech is taken from Ecclesiastes: "For everything there is a season and a time for every matter under heaven." Miss Herel will present a time to remember; Miss Alvarez, a time for truth; Miss Davies, a time to enjoy; Miss Milburn, a time to give; Penn, a time for challenge.

The Rev. Liston Halley Jr. will be the guest speaker for this year's commencement ceremonies.

The 118 boys will wear blue robes and caps and the 109 girls will wear red robes and caps. A total of 47 seniors will graduate with honors.

In keeping with the bicentennial year, the senior class has chosen red, white and blue as class colors. The white rose is the class flower.

"Yesterday is not ours to recover, but tomorrow is ours to win or to lose," is the class motto.

Following is a list of the seniors, their parents and their plans for the future:

Teresa Mae Adams, daughter of Mrs. Helen Adams, 1302 S. Pickaway St.; DCT; plans to work after graduation.

Timothy Eugene Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Adams, 316 Logan St.; horticulture; undecided about future plans.

Debra Elaine Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring J. Allen Jr., 165 Sunset Drive; college prep; will attend Mt. Vernon Nazarene College.

Susan Beth Allison, daughter of Paul Allison, 144 Griner Ave.; business; plans to get married and work.

William Stephen Francis Ancira, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ancira, 559 Gumm Place; college prep; will attend college and major in music composition.

Lee E. Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hickey, 127 Pleasant St.; college prep; wants to attend college to major in psychology.

Michael E. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Anderson, 120 Seyfert Ave.; business; will attend Ohio State University to study aviation.

Sandra Lynn Angles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Angles, 280 Edwards Road; business; plans to get a job.

Cathy Jo Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Armstrong, 269 Meadow Drive; business; wants to get a job and attend business college.

Brian E. Augustine, son of Mrs. Clara Augustine, 623 Mowrer Road; college prep; wants to go to college. Jane Allison Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ayers, 356 Juhl Road; college prep; will attend college and major in communications.

Douglas P. Baker, son of Mrs. Carol Radcliff, 1064 Lynwood Ave.; college prep; plans to attend Ohio University.

Thelma Elaine Ballenger, daughter of Mrs. Clifford Ballenger, 120 Pinkney St.; general; will continue working at Berger Hospital.

Bruce E. Ballou, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ballou, Route 3; business; undecided about future plans.

Bob Baranick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Baranick, 340 Lewis Road; carpentry; wants to go into construction work.

Helen Joan Baughman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Eller, 929 S. Washington St.; business; undecided about future plans.

Randy Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beck, 339 Walnut Creek Pike; auto mechanics; plans to start working after graduation.

Dawnel Irene Bergen, daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Bergen, 110 Park St.; plans to work one year and then attend college to major in sociology.

Jon K. Berlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Berlin, 15 Cambridge Place; college prep; has been accepted at Miami University at Oxford.

Timothy Jay Billups, son of Harold Landis, 115 Town St.; college prep; plans to go to college.

Daniel E. Bobbitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Bobbitt, 450 E. Ohio St.; general; wants to either go to technical school or become a truck driver.

Exchange Gallery Draws Visitors

NEW YORK (AP) — Over half a million people visit the New York Stock Exchange Gallery each year, making it one of the more popular tourist attractions in New York City.

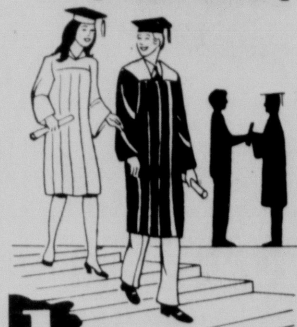

The gallery, a glass-enclosed balcony, serves as a vantage point for watching close to 1,000 member brokers and 2,000 clerks and pages working on a typical weekday.

What's In A Name

NEW YORK (AP) — Over 20,000 places are listed in the "Illustrated Dictionary of Place Names: United States and Canada;" (Van Nostrand Reinhold.)

The book, edited by Kelsie B. Harder, lists "every U.S. village and town with a population over 2,500 and every such locality in Canada with a population over 2,000."

A Great Future!
